By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three death-dealing tornadoes that turned heavily populated sections of northern Illinois and western Michigan into a nightmare claimed 47 lives Friday.

and searchers feared more bodies would be found in the rubble today.
More than 1,500 persons were injured in the twisters that left vast wastelands in their wake. The tornadoes killed 24 persons in Oak Lawn, a suburb of Chicago; 20 in Belvidere, Ill., a town of 13,000 about 65 miles northwest of Chicago; 1 in Chicago; 1 in Stone Park another Chicago suburb, and 1 in Hillsdale County, Mich.

The Chicago Weather Bureau said the tornadoes "appear to be the worst since March 28, 1920. And when the final report is in, it may be the most devastating tornado on record in northeastern Illinois."

Hardest hit as the tornadoes twisted through scores of Illinois communities was Oak Lawn. Among the victims there were a number of young skaters at a roller rink which was demolished.

A big supermarket in Oak Lawn, which had been jammed with Friday evening shoppers, was reduced to rubble. Authorities feared casualties there could raise the death toll.

Nine victims at Belvidere were students. The twister hit as students boarded school buses at Belvidere High School. Some victims, however, were elementary school students who had been picked up earlier by the buses.

Authorities at Belvidere and Oak Lawn worked through the night, sifting debris for bodies and survivors. Dozens searched the ruins of 200 structures in Oak Lawn for survivors believed trapped in the basements covered with debris.

"We have all kinds of areas to the west of here where we haven't even broken ground yet," Dumke said in Oak Lawn. Elsewhere in Illinois, there were scattered reports of damage from tornadoes, high winds and thunderstorms in Lake Zurich, Waukegan, Libertyville, Barrington, Orion, Moline, Rock Island, Harvard and scores of other communities.

Surveyor 3 Digs Long Trench In Lunar Soil Landing Tests

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 3 gouged a foot-long trench in the desolate surface of the moon today and uncovered nothing to indicate the lunar soil might be unsafe for manned landings.

Speculation that the moon's surface might be littered with precious stones also faded as the 5-by-2 inch scoop shovel dug a furrow about two inches deep shortly after midnight Friday.

Three Feet Away
The trench, starting about three feet from the tripod spacecraft, was dug in three jerky motions lasting two seconds each.

A television camera, mounted just above the scoop's extendable arm, relayed a series of photographs of the history-making operation to its controllers at Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

Surveyor 3 first dropped the scoop into the soil between two of its legs, creating a rectangular hole an inch to an inch and a half deep.

After a brief delay to let the electronics of Surveyor 3's overheating camera cool off, the shovel was moved to the right and lowered again with its scoop opened.

The trench that resulted when the scoop was pulled back appeared sharply defined in photographs. This indicated the lunar soil was strongly cohesive, something like wet sand.

Another First
It was the first time pictures were relayed to earth of a scratch on the moon's surface put there by a man-made device. A spokesman said the texture and grain of the soil around the spacecraft appeared about as expected — not too soft for a man to walk on nor so hard it would damage a landing vehicle.

Some geologists have theorized that the extreme heat and pressure during the moon's formation may have created diamonds and other precious stones in great quantities. These theories have never been confirmed.

Scientists had planned to hammer a series of holes into the soil before the trenching maneuver, but called this off as the television camera began to overheat in the 200-degree lunar daylight.

After making the first dent, scientists controlling the spacecraft across a quarter of a million miles moved immediately into the trenching operation.

Buses Sailing
Buses were sent sailing through the air like leaves. Others were bounced across the ground and flattened.

One bus was carried more than a mile from the school. Sheriff Joseph I. Woods of Cook County ordered police to guard against looting in debris-strewn Oak Lawn.

"All looters...will be shot on sight," he said. "I think it's a good ruling," said Fred Dumke, Oak Lawn village president. "Anyone who would look at a time like this..."

His voice trailed off as he walked into a temporary morgue in a Veterans of Foreign Wars hall.

In the hall's meeting room, rows of bodies were lined up against the west wall.

People stood in clusters, talking and consoling each other. They walked by the bodies, lifted sheets and shook their heads. A few fainted.

All Was Confusion
Outside the hall and for blocks around it, all was confusion Friday night. Red, white and blue lights flashed from police cars, fire trucks and other emergency vehicles.

Bull horns blared from police cars: "Get off the streets."

Some 200 homes, apartment buildings and garages in a six-block area of Oak Lawn were leveled or left with only fragments of walls standing. A witness said it looked like a war zone.

Dozens of trees were uprooted and twisted into grotesque forms. Autos had been crushed by the trees. The sound of power saws and axes could be heard in the darkened streets into the early morning hours as 1,500 workmen attempted to clear the area of debris before dawn.

When the twister struck in Belvidere, many students still were in the school. Teachers and pupils rushed into the library and cafeteria.

Bill Coleman, 17, a junior at the school, said he helped take 200 other students to the cafeteria.

Unaware of Damage
"We were unaware of any damage while we were in there," he said. "Then we got out and looked and there was a bus halfway through the wall."

As the tornado neared the high school, other terrified students huddled against the library walls. The force of the wind smashed the library's windows, injuring dozens, police said.

Before touching down at the school, the twister hit a new Chrysler plant, the Highland Hospital and five subdivisions.

The Highland Hospital was evacuated after it sustained extensive damage, a hospital spokesman said. One patient was reported injured.

Rins Market
A twister ripped through a Belvidere supermarket. Police said only the roof and its supporting teams were left standing.

Authorities at Belvidere and Oak Lawn worked through the night, sifting debris for bodies and survivors. Dozens searched the ruins of 200 structures in Oak Lawn for survivors believed trapped in the basements covered with debris.

"We have all kinds of areas to the west of here where we haven't even broken ground yet," Dumke said in Oak Lawn. Elsewhere in Illinois, there were scattered reports of damage from tornadoes, high winds and thunderstorms in Lake Zurich, Waukegan, Libertyville, Barrington, Orion, Moline, Rock Island, Harvard and scores of other communities.

Tornadoes also touched down in Missouri, Wisconsin, Indiana and California. One house was damaged at Madera, Calif., about 25 miles northwest of Fresno.

Push Air War as Clouds Clear In North; Yanks Kill 46 Reds

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines tangled with a dogged Communist force for the second day today in a rugged coastal area in the northern part of South Vietnam. The Leathernecks reported killing 46 enemy with the help of air strikes and artillery.

The action in a familiar battleground near Tam Ky, about 375 miles northeast of Saigon, was the only major ground fighting reported today.

Fly 118 Missions
In the air, U.S. pilots darted through partly cloudy skies Friday to carry out 118 missions over North Vietnam concentrating their bombs mostly on railroads, trucks and barges.

Other planes battered enemy troop concentrations, base camps and infiltration routes inside South Vietnam. B52 bombers hit enemy fortifications and supply areas twice today in Chau Doc Province near the Cambodian border about 120 miles southwest of Saigon.

There were many isolated clashes and incidents across the country, but fighting was mostly scattered with no major engagements.

With Communist pressure steadily increasing in the northern 1st Corps area, the U.S. command announced that a new Army task force called Oregon had been sent up there.

It was described as a multi-brigade force of elements of the 196th Light Infantry Brigade and the 25th Infantry Division. It is headquartered at the former Marine enclave of Chu Lai, about 52 miles south of Da Nang and is under the command of Maj. Gen. William B. Rosson, former chief of staff at Saigon headquarters.

Finish Operation
At the same time it was announced that units of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Airmobile Division had closed out Operation Lejeune, their first in the 1st Corps region. The air cavalry reported killing 155 enemy and detaining 756 suspects during the 16-day operation.

Election Seen As No Factor

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate leader from each party expressed strong doubts today about the 1968 U. S. presidential election before considering peace negotiations.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, a spokesman on Capitol Hill, discounted speculation Hanoi is counting on in hopes the Johnson administration will be repudiated at the polls.

Are Determined
"I think they are determined to fight on," said Mansfield. "The war will very likely step up rather than decrease in intensity."

Morton, a former GOP National Committee chairman, said North Vietnamese leaders should be aware a Republican victory in 1968 "if anything, would mean a tougher approach."

Both Mansfield and Morton said in interviews they believe U. S. bombing of North Vietnam has toughened Hanoi's resolve. Their statements came as U.S. officials said Thursday's air strikes against power plants in North Vietnam's port city of Haiphong ran the risk of hitting Soviet ships in the harbor.

But the officials, who declined to be named, said the bombing was conducted with precision and care. They attributed success of the raids to the skill of Navy pilots, who carried out the mission in the face of a reported 72 surface to air missiles fired at them.

One Plane Hit
Only one U.S. aircraft was reported hit. It was severely damaged, but successfully returned to its carrier.

The officials contended the risk of hitting Soviet oil freighters in the harbor was minimized because the power plants involved are located away from the port area.

Meanwhile, the foreign ministers of the seven allied nations now fighting in Vietnam wound up a two-day parley here with an agreement all would participate in any final settlement of the war.

The agreement fell short of strong prods from Thailand, Korea and South Vietnam—represented at the conference along with the United States, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand—that a permanent secretariat be established to coordinate any peace approaches that might be made.

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand had said the informal secretariat could help clarify war issues, work to combat enemy propaganda and evaluate peace proposals from all sources.

Spillover at Ashokan—Officials report that the New York City Water supply shed at Ashokan Reservoir is above normal for first time in about four years. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr).

Supply of water at the Ashokan Reservoir was reported above normal today for the first time in about four years, and officials indicated cautious optimism that the drought in the northeast might be nearing an end.

Recent rains added to the water supply and water in the last couple of days has been roaring over the spillway at the nearby watershed of the Department of New York City Water Supply, Gas and Electricity.

A spokesman at Ashokan said today the reservoir supply at present is 128½ billion gallons, above normal for the first time in about four years. He noted that most watersheds in the area are close to or above normal at present.

Observers noted that creeks and streams in this area are at top level and in some sections are overflowing, but no flooding has been reported locally.

3 Area Men Escape as Car Sinks

Three Greene County men narrowly escaped drowning at 12:25 a. m. today when the car in which they were riding went down an embankment and submerged in the Catskill Creek after a collision at the intersection of Routes 23 and 9W in Catskill.

State Trooper Leonard Addis of the Leeds State Police said the cars involved in the collision were driven by Watson C. Hall, 23, of Hunter, and Arnold N. Anderson, 24, of Palenville. Hall, who was cited by Troopers J. J. Syvertsen and David Hall for failure to yield the right of way, was making a left turn to enter Route 23 and Anderson was driving east on that highway when the vehicles collided.

Troopers reported Anderson was ejected from his car which continued on and entered the Catskill Creek, where it completely submerged. Passengers in the vehicle managed to escape unhurt. They were listed as Richard Sullivan and Daniel Borfitt, both of Catskill, and Joseph O'Brien of Palenville.

In a simply worded statement she said disenchantment with the communism taught her since her childhood and discovery of a deep religious faith had led to the decision to defect from her Soviet homeland.

"I found it was impossible to exist without God in one's heart," she said on her arrival Friday. "I came to that conclusion myself, without anybody's help or preaching."

"But that was a great change because since that moment the main dogmas of communism lost their significance for me."

"I have come here in order to seek the self-expression that has been denied me for so long in Russia," the red-haired 42-year-old widow explained.

She said she had struggled against the break because it meant leaving her two children in Moscow and not seeing them again for a long time, "but all was in vain. I felt it was impossible to go back."

So, on the evening of March 6 she went to the American Embassy in New Delhi requesting asylum in this country and began the Odyssey that took her from India to Italy, then Switzerland and finally the United States.

Miss Stalin declined to say whether she had been granted permanent asylum here. In Washington the State Department said, "She is free to remain here as long as she wishes and is free to leave whenever she wishes."

Prior to her arrival the department notified the Soviet Embassy she was on her way. There has been concern in the capital over the possible effect on U.S.-Soviet relations.

$248 Is Missing From Post Office Safe at Shokan

Kingston State Police BCI officers today were investigating a burglary at the U. S. Post Office at Shokan which netted $248.21, according to BCI Investigator Joseph Ventriglia.

The break-in was discovered this morning by Mrs. Ida Mae Marlatt, postmaster, when she opened the office for business.

Notified Police
She immediately notified State Police and Investigators Ventriglia and W. E. Wiedemann investigated with Trooper John McMickle.

Ventriglia said entrance was gained after a pane of glass was smashed in the front door. The intruder unlocked the door and entered. The money, troopers reported, was taken from the office safe.

Investigators reported examination of the safe showed no marks of physical force or tampering with the safe or its combination.

Check Prints
BCI officers were processing fingerprints before noon in an effort to uncover evidence that might lead to the identification of the perpetrator of the burglary.

Village Seen As War Zone After Twister

OAK LAWN, Ill. (AP) — Walking toward the corner of 95th Street and Southwest Highway in Oaklawn is like walking into a war zone.

The intersection is the site of the worst destruction caused by a tornado which ripped apart this suburb of southwest Chicago Friday night, killing 24 persons.

Swing Flares
Guards at every intersection swing flares, allowing some traffic through and turning away the curious. They stop every pedestrian.

Market Levelled
The remains of a Fairway supermarket and what was a fancy restaurant—The Sherwood—stand at the corner.

"Who are you? What's your business?" they ask. If the pedestrian does not have a press card or a Red Cross arm band, he is ordered back.

All that is left are a few pieces of wall. It smells like dead fish and it looks like a bomb has fallen.

If he goes ahead he runs the risk of being shot. Sheriff Joseph Woods of Cook County declared something like a state of martial law on 95th Street, where looters plagued tornado-shattered stores.

Hundreds of firemen help earth-moving equipment shovel away the debris.

They are looking for bodies. "There are people in there and we haven't found them," said Oak Lawn Village President Fred Dumke.

Work in the eerie glare provided by banks of floodlights powered by emergency generators. The harsh light outlines the shadows of the few trees left standing.

Dumke has set a deadline of 72 hours to clear the debris which the disaster scattered over this pleasant suburb.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

VIETNAM CHAPLAINS, PART I

Major Pham-Minh-Hu'a is the parachute jumping Chief of Catholic Chaplains for the Vietnam Air Force.

Father Hu'a, a fifth generation Catholic, has found his entire life sustained by the power of faith. Born and raised in a small town south of Hanoi in North Vietnam, Father Hu'a studied for the priesthood at Saint Sulice Seminary in Hanoi and Bhat-Bien Seminary. But in 1954 he realized what the future held in the north. He, with his two brothers and three sisters made their way south to Saigon.

For the past ten years he has been a military chaplain and the past four years have been with the Air Force. Father Hu'a is not only minister to the spiritual needs of Vietnamese Catholics, but others. Even American G.I.s go to him for spiritual direction and help. When he parachutes into an area where he is needed, race, creed or color make no difference.

Father Hu'a is dedicated also to promoting his country's future. He is a commissioner and district leader of the Boy Scouts in Vietnam, and spends much of his energy furthering the aims of Scouting.

"We do not have to give up our cultural and historical heritage as an Oriental to be a Christian," says Father Hu'a, "for with the best of both the combination is good."

New Clinical Chiefs Named For Benedictine Hospital

A closer hospital-doctor relationship is necessary for the future survival of the voluntary hospital system. This was the theme expressed by the medical heads of the Benedictine Hospital at the annual medical staff dinner-meeting Tuesday night in the hospital's nursing school auditorium.

Dr. Michael Diacovo, president of the Benedictine Hospital Medical staff, presided at the meeting at which the staff reviews the past year's medical service and the staff appointments for the coming year are made by the Board of Directors.

Following the invocation by the Rev. Patrick Carney, director of Catholic Charities for Ulster and Dutchess Counties, Dr. Diacovo requested those assembled to remain standing for a moment of silence in memory of Msgr. Patrick J. Frawley, director of Division of Hospitals and Health of the New York Archdiocese, who died Tuesday.

After dinner all outgoing department heads gave a report for their department for 1966.

Dr. Herbert Zaccaro, outgoing Chief of OB-Gyn., indicated in his report that although there is a radical downward trend in the birth rate nationally, the experience in this area showed a very mild decrease in birth with only a drop of 32 births over last year. He also stated that there were no maternal mortalities during 1966.

Among the highlights of the report by Dr. Joseph Webber, department head of anesthesiology, was the recognition of a new addition to the anesthesiology staff, Dr. Celerino T. Boot.

The report of the surgical department was presented by Dr. Joseph Conrad, new chief of surgery, for Dr. John A. Cooke, outgoing chief, who was not present. The surgical department report indicated an acute awareness of the increase in the emergency room activity over the past and the probable further increase in the future. Dr. Cooke stated in his report this is a problem which has to be discussed between the physicians and hospital so that full cooperation and efficiency can be effected in the future.

Another problem noted was the increasing difficulty of maintaining a pre-operative supply of blood. Dr. Cooke made a plea for more cooperation from all physicians to acquaint their patients and their families with the need of supplying donors to maintain an adequate supply for the community.

Dr. John A. Olivet, medical director, in his remarks forcefully pursued the necessity of a healthy hospital-doctor relationship. Dr. Olivet stated, "I am sure that everyone here realizes that during the past few years a new 'public relations era' and a new public has been born. Today, physicians and hospitals exist in the spotlight of TV and radio (witness Dr. Kildare, etc.). Read the Digest, Look, Life, Time, etc. Physicians and hospitals have a new place in the social order.

With advanced medical technology, electronic equipment that monitors all parameters of patients' physical signs, with the mass of new medical knowledge that makes it even difficult for medical schools to determine the curriculum of the student, with the advent of Medicare and Medicaid, the new public looks upon health care as an inalienable right. Therefore, the place of hospitals in medicine and the place of physicians in the hospital represent two areas which require new thinking, new appraisals and new understanding. Physicians now acknowledge that their responsibility exists beyond one patient to include all patients and to include the hospital. On the other hand, the administration and governing board must acknowledge, however reluctantly, that their responsibility extends beyond raising money, hiring help, paying bills and building new facilities. Neither hospital nor physician can exist without the other. Coordination of the two depends upon clear communication and teamwork, upon the understanding of hospital problems by members of the medical problems by governing boards and administration.

"During the past six months I believe a small start has been made in promoting better patient care by providing facilities and training nurses for the establishment of a coronary care unit which I am happy to say is functioning smoothly and effectively. The hospital would like to give you a few thoughts for the future and to encourage your study and recommendations of the situation. With the gradual phasing out of the Diploma School of Nursing and the completion of the new hospital construction, physical facilities will be available for making progress in many areas of patient care. The hospital is in dire need of an intensive care unit. Consideration is being given to using the present obstetrical floor for a combined 12-bed intensive care unit and a sophisticated 4-bed coronary care unit. First floor north can be utilized as an adult short term psychiatric pavilion. Second floor north could be used as an extended chronic care facility. First floor of the Nursing School could be used as a mental health clinic with offices and as an in and out-patient children's psychiatric unit. The second and third floors of the Nursing School could be used as a nursing home or an extended chronic care facility as community needs indicate. In addition, it is contemplated that a CP Clinic is to be constructed on property adjacent to the hospital. If these plans eventuate it is a short step to a progressive care hospital. All these thoughts require study and cooperation between the medical staff and administration.

"A strongly organized, medical staff with a dedicated, effectively functioning Medical Executive Committee and with other members of the staff conscientiously pursuing the work of the various sub-committees of utilization and medical records, credentials, tissue, pharmacy, etc., will give guidance to administration in successfully culminating the various contemplated plans with the prime objective of providing better patient care in our community."

Dr. Michael Diacovo, president of the staff, followed with a summary of the problems, complications and trends on the health care horizon due to the institution of medicare and Medicaid. He said that it is of prime importance that the medical staff, administration and the governing board of the hospital work together in order to help solve the many problems incident to the above programs. In any event, this cohesive spirit will always assure proper planning for patient service in future years.

The Rev. Mother Cornelia thanked the physicians for their fine efforts in the past year and stated that the Sisters are proud of the way the doctors have helped to support the hospital operation. Mother Cornelia concluded that, "it is through your zeal and consideration, along with the cooperation of the hospital employees, that we can be assured of the highest type of patient care available for the people of the Ulster County area."

Mother Cornelia then announced the following medical staff appointments for the coming year: Dr. James R. Clarkin, department of medicine; Dr. Joseph Conrad, department of surgery; Dr. William Feldman, department of obstetrics and gynecology; Dr. Vincent Amatano, department of general practice.

Murphy, Dr. Edward F. Shea, Harry M. Thayer, Dr. Elbert F. MacFadden, Charles L. MacKendrick, Mrs. Elmer Nathan, Mrs. Joyce Rappoport, Dr. Norman Burg and Dr. Kurt Haas. According to the constitution and by-laws of the association, directors may not serve more than two consecutive three-year terms.

Special thanks were also expressed by the president to Mrs. Gold retiring as secretary to the board, but continuing to serve as a director, and to Fitzgibbon and Mrs. Schwartz for their services as treasurer and editor of Classroom Mental Note, respectively.

It was noted that membership has increased by over 24 per cent in the past year. Mrs. Krum, chairman of the membership committee, was commended for her work on this project. A financial statement was issued showing the bulk of the association's funds came from the Community Chest, a member of which the association has been for a year. This amount was $5,200 of the $8,144.83 operating budget. Membership dues accounted for an additional $1,083. The total disbursements for the year were $7,453.07 leaving a balance of $691.76 as of Dec. 31. The report was issued by Fitzgibbon, treasurer.

Seek Kidnapper Of Upstate Youth

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Burton Lavton clung to their telephone today, hoping for word on the fate of their abducted 9-year-old son, Billy.

But FBI agents and police admitted Friday they had no clues to the whereabouts of the 80-pound boy, who they believe was kidnapped by a 6-foot-4 bachelor.

Friend of Family
State and federal warrants have been issued for John Wood, 24, a 200-pound Boys Club swimmer - instructor, Wood, reportedly a good friend of the family, said he was to take young William to a dentist appointment Monday when he took the lad from his fourth-grade class.

Meanwhile, authorities continued to check leads today and interview Wood's friends and acquaintances.

Wood's automobile was found Tuesday near the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad station here and two blocks from a bus station. Police said, however, that they had turned up no clues at the bus or train station or at the local airport.

The boy is 4 feet tall, with black hair and blue eyes. When he left the school, he was wearing a black jacket and pants and sneakers.

Police also said Friday they believed Wood had planned the kidnapping in advance.

"He left his job with a real estate firm on April 12," police detective Philip J. Vanderbeck said. "We know he left town on the 13th and 14th and that he returned sometime last Saturday."

"We have pretty good information," the detective said, "that he took most of his belongings with him last Thursday (the 13th) and that Monday he took very little as far as clothing and possessions are concerned."

Frequent Escort
Police said Wood, who for six months had taught swimming at the local Boys Club, was friend of the family and frequently had escorted the boy.

Billy's father, a dairy employee, said Wood "always seemed like a heck of a nice guy."

"I don't know any reason why Billy would go off without telling us," said Mrs. Lavton, an employee at a diner. "Billy never went any place without telling me."

Wood, a graduate of Colby College in Maine, was described by police as dark-haired and wearing glasses.

Powell In No Rush to Judgement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell has delayed a new showdown over his House seat — a fight headcounts indicate he again would lose — by deciding to await further court action before trying to claim his new election certificate.

Sources reported Friday the excluded Harlem Democrat made his decision after being advised by an emissary of the House leadership that he again would be excluded from membership if a new attempt were made to seat him.

Powell was ousted from the House March 1 and subsequently filed suit to overturn the action. A U.S. District Court threw out his suit, but Powell appealed and the Court of Appeals has scheduled arguments for next Thursday.

After filing the suit, the preacher-politician over whomling was elected to fill the House vacancy created by his exclusion.

A key factor in Powell's decision, sources said, was the expectation that the Appeals Court would rule quickly. The District Court acted three days after holding a hearing.

Sources indicated that, should the Appeals Court make clear it is in no hurry to act, Powell might change his plans.

Powell's attorneys hope either to win in the Appeals Court or have the Appeals Court ask the Supreme Court to rule on it.

The House leadership reached the conclusion Powell again would be barred from seating after conducting a headcount of members. It is thought might switch their votes from March 1. But the count reportedly showed switches in both directions, with little net change.

The certificate of election from Powell's April 11 victory is expected to reach Washington sometime next week after completion of formalities in New York. But Powell plans no immediate effort to claim it.

One thought behind the decision to await Appeals Court action is the belief of at least some of Powell's attorneys that an Appeals Court decision — or one by the Supreme Court — to overturn the House action might provide a way out of the legal thickets posed by the situation.

Their feeling is that, although a number of court opponents would seize the opportunity to sound off against what they consider encroachment on congressional authority, a majority would in the end back the courts.

U.S. Engineers Help Repair Viet

TUY HOA, Vietnam (AP) — The machines of war build as well as destroy, and throughout South Vietnam U.S. Army engineers are changing the face of this country wracked by 20 years of war.

Most projects are geared directly to troop support, but the ports, schools, airstrips, bridges and roads will remain after the battles have become history.

The 57th Engineer Battalion is one of the builders. Three companies of the battalion have scratched out a base camp beside the China Sea south of Tuy Hoa and 225 miles north of Saigon. Now their bulldozers and trucks are probing deeper into what was once solid Viet Cong country.

The battalion arrived in Vietnam last July and the three companies moved to their present base in November. The 700 engineers, under Lt. Col. Carl P. Rodolph of Spearman, Tex., have been busy.

They built most of the 74 buildings in a 400-bed field hospital created a new port — Port Lane — 17 miles south of Tuy Hoa, set up a communications station, built 18 miles of steel pipeline, constructed a runway and parking complex for helicopters, built a three-classroom school and 12 miles of road, and also repaired 80 miles of national highway.

The battalion has built hundreds of mess halls and barracks and 50 outposts and showers.

West Shokan News

WEST SHOKAN: — The Tongore Cemetery Association held its annual meeting at the Olive-bridge Church hall and elected Alonzo Davis, president; Reginald E. Davis, vice-president; Irving Hesley, secretary and Ezra Silkworth, superintendent. Re-elected trustees for three years are Percy Cook, Harlowe McLean, Irving Hesley, Arthur Samsen, treasurer, elected for two years to fill out the unexpired term of the late Grover C. Christiana. The price of plots was increased. Plots are now getting scarce and there is need for additional acreage.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald E. Davis returned to their home on Saw Mill Road after spending the winter in Florida. During their stay in Florida several hom town folks were paid a visit, including Mr. and Mrs. John C. Marshall in Holly Hills, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil H. Winchell in Bradenton and Mr. and Mrs. Hazzie Wager.

Miss Gladys Van De Mark is recovering in Kingston Hospital where she underwent surgery. She is expected home by the week end.

Joseph Caulfield, proprietor of the West Shokan Garage, was in Catskill Thursday.

The Tuesday Club held a well-attended meeting at the Olive-bridge Library this week. Seasonal plans were formulated.

Charles North, World War I, A.E.F. veteran, is a patient at Albany Veterans Hospital. Born and brought up in pre-reservoir West Shokan, Mr. North is a descendant of the former North and Eckert families and has a host of friends in West Shokan area.

Guests attending the recent 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Crutcher included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bittermann, Harlowe McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Weldt, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Crosswell, Mrs. Marie Every and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fox.

As a girl she resided on the George Hansen property and attended Shokan school with Miss Hazel Bell as her teacher.

Harry Dunn of Broadhead Road, who bought the old Alonzo some 20 acres, reportedly sold the 150-year-old house and a few attached acres. The remainder on the north side of the road provides a site for a building project. A two acre pine grove that replaced a once productive farm field is now thinned out providing an attractive park.

Another coming birthday anniversary is that of Mrs. Helen Marshall, recorder of vital statistics.

Joseph Caulfield, who is a junior officer of Kingston Lodge 10, F. & A. M., attended and took part in the conferring of the Second Degree ceremonial Tuesday night.

Ollie Burgher was showered with greetings cards and congratulations on her birthday anniversary April 15. A lifelong observer of wild life, especially birds, she reports that spring has brought the greatest influx of birds in her recollection. Recently Charles Wood, who with his wife Belle, maintain a bird sanctuary, reports the presence of wild turkeys crossing his lawn on Broadhead Road.

Harold Constable, High Point Road, well known World War II veteran, is frequently a patient in the Albany Veterans Hospital.

Davis before the meeting and the election was by acclamation. Davis has served as secretary for 36 successive years and has attended 40 consecutive annual meetings.

For Grand Lodge nominations, Ulster District went on record as favoring the following: Grand Master, Samuel Sweeney of Painted Post Lodge, 713; Deputy Grand Master, Samuel Baxter, Menona Lodge, 124; Grand Warden, George G. Burkhardt, Schuyler Lodge, 147; Grand Secretary, William Klumpner, Marvin Lodge, 252; Grand Treasurer Fred W. Diehl, Flower City Lodge, 555; Grand Representative Clarence A. Munster, Mt. ## Crowd Honoring Cahill Composed Of Ex-Students Saugerties Jaycees paid the ultimate tribute to a man whose career in the Saugerties School System has spanned 44 years at a testimonial banquet Wednesday night. The fete honored Lawrence M. Cahill, assistant principal and director of transportation of Saugerties Central Schools. He had just been voted Outstanding Citizen of 1966 here, an honor reserved for only a very few in the community over the years.

More than half of the large crowd attending the banquet were former pupils of Cahill, who will be retiring from his position in Saugerties Central Schools at the end of the present school term. Also attending were several former Outstanding Citizens, including Vernon (Joe) Benjamin, Edward N. Flanagan, Donald S. Fellows, Nathan Aaron and Joseph Bosco, recipient of the honor last year.

Other men of the Year who were unable to attend have included Peter Poczyko, Major Roger H. C. Donlon, Saugerties Congressional Medal of Honor winner, and the Rev. Frederick Imhoff.

Third Graders Star In Play at Morse

"Screwly Louie" and a cast of 19 entertained an audience of third and fourth graders, teachers and parents at Grant D. Morse School last week. Third grade class taught by Janet Clarke presented a four act play named after the careless lad mentioned above.

Louie, played by Robert Tiedtke, would not be reformed by ordinary means of parental punishment and classroom disapproval. In the tradition of Charles Dickens' "Scrooge," a certain ghostly influence did the trick. The cast of school mates included Mary Becker, Laura Elias, Cynthia Fetty, Fay Harvey, Jeffrey Heter, Richard Justy, Steven Lucette, Thomas Melville, Michael Missasi, Duane Otis, Richard Parsons, Bonnie Sinsapough and Wendy Williams. The discouraged parents of "Screwly Louie" were James Buchanan and Dorothy Liberator. Unrecognizable as the four ghosts were Richard Conway, Mark Dederick, Nancy Houser and Catherine Parisi.

"Screwly Louie" could not have been successfully staged without the efficient changes of scene made three times by Charles Eyer, Russell Hill and Peter Wipser or Gerard Schaffer, who introduced each act, and Michael Valk, chief technician in charge of ghostly music. Programs were distributed before the play by Bonnie Bogardus, Susan Colwell and Ann Snyder.

Mrs. Wright Says More Progressive B of E Is Needed

Mrs. Robert (Velma) Wright, a candidate on the Independent Taxpayers Committee slate for election to the Saugerties School Board, released the following statement today in connection with her decision to seek office.

"In the sole interest of assuring our children's opportunity for an adequate education for today's and tomorrow's needs, I announce my candidacy for election to the Saugerties School Board. My desire to serve is based on the following: 'I feel that progressive minded people are needed on the board.'

"What was good enough for us will not be good enough for our children. They will walk out of their classrooms into the Space Age.

"Our children are being burdened by alternating full time and split school sessions. I will devote my efforts to seeking a solution to this condition.

"As a nation we enjoy the highest standard of living because of our industrial and technological prowess. We cannot afford to send our children out into the modern competitive world unprepared.

"Aware that our children will be forced into split sessions next term, we area parents are most dissatisfied because we know it means the loss of precious learning years.

"If give nthe chance, I promise that I will do my utmost to fulfill my responsibilities as a citizen, as a taxpayer, and as a board member."

School Election Committee Gives Aims, Seeks Aid

The Independent Committee for School Board Election has issued a request for help of all qualified voters in the coming Kingston Schools Consolidated election.

In stating the aims, a spokesman for the committee said:

"We are going under the assumption that good school board members are a necessity to further good education. This committee made up of various people wishing to support education has undertaken for the past several years to select and support for the school board, local persons who have taken intelligent and strong interest in education and civic affairs and who have shown compassion and feeling for those less fortunate than themselves.

Want to Offer Best
"It is hoped that by selecting those very capable persons to run for school board positions we will make available for these responsible positions, the best that Kingston has to offer. The committee offers campaigning assistance and financial aid to those selected, asking nothing in return except that—the nominee devote five years of his time and use his good common sense on the difficult task ahead in the education of our area's children. The committee realized better qualified people without axes to grind make superior board members since they are not committed to any point of view in advance or do they feel they know all the facts, thus keeping an open mind—this enables them to make good sound decisions.

John R. Shultis, Jr., chairman of the committee asks that all voters assist the committee not only in supporting Thomas Reynolds, this years outstanding candidate, but also support the committee by bringing to its attention capable persons interested in education with a strong background of responsible work done on behalf of the community, also help by informing others of this program of support for qualified nominees.

He also asks that "people interested in making the area a better place to live take an active interest in this great school system of which we can be so proud. There are few places in the United States so richly served by its educational team."

For Sleeping Comfort

A taut sheet contributes to sleeping comfort. When making a bed, tuck at least 10 inches of the bottom sheet tightly under the foot of the mattress. Keep this even so that the sheet will be even at the top. Pull sheet smoothly up over the bed and tuck it tightly under the mattress at the head of the bed.

Doing the Right Thing

GIVING OF GIFTS NOT DEPENDENT ON INVITATION TO WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Post: I would appreciate your ideas on gift-giving when a girl has just a small family-type wedding and sends no invitations or announcements. I informed most of my friends of my wedding and of the reasons for not having anything formal. I was amazed at the attitude most of them took. They seemed to think I would not welcome a small wedding present because there was no reception or shower. Surely, there is no rule of etiquette that says you shouldn't remember a friend with a wedding present. —Amazed

Dear Amazed: The giving of wedding gifts should not be a matter of whether one must do so because he was invited to the wedding, a shower, etc. Gifts should come from the heart—an expression of affection. They need not be large, or expensive, it is the thought that counts, and the thought cannot be dependent on whether or not a true friend is included in the ceremonies.

Doughnut-Dunking at Home

Dear Mrs. Post: From the time I was a small girl, we were always allowed to dunk, not when dining out or with company, but just at home with our family. My son-in-law will not allow it. What harm is it I do not know. Will you please settle this for me? —Susan McGraw

Dear Mrs. McGraw: I agree with your son-in-law that, in public dunking might be offensive to other diners, but at home alone, if you all enjoy it, go ahead and dunk!

No Set Formula for Monetary Gifts

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently, my husband and I attended the wedding and reception of a friend's daughter. We gave the equivalent of one day of my husband's pay as our gift. Now I learn a much larger amount was anticipated. Using a salary as a guide, please tell me how large a money gift is usually correct. —Marjorie

Dear Marjorie: You did nothing wrong; the bride's family was at fault in "anticipating" a certain sum. A gift is not measured by the amount, but by the thought behind it. I cannot give you a formula—it is entirely up to the individual to decide how much he wishes to give in each situation, according to his closeness to the people involved.

Frog's Legs in the Fingers

Dear Mrs. Post: May I ask if it is considered good manners to eat frog's legs in one's fingers. I love them and have eaten them this way for years. It has occurred to me that this might not be considered proper—Curious.

Dear Curious: On the contrary, unless you are at a formal dinner party, or an especially elegant restaurant, I consider it perfectly proper to pick up frog's legs after the main piece of meat has been cut off. They are small and straight and can be held delicately by the end without offending other diners in any way.

Costume for a Second Marriage

Dear Mrs. Post: In books on proper etiquette, I have found one hundred and one rules for the bride-to-be to follow, but none for the second bride. Next year I am getting married for the second time. This will be my fiancé's first marriage and it will be a church wedding, though small. I would like to wear a white sheath with a yellow and white overcoat and accessories. I feel that when he sees me I should look like a bride to him so that he will think and remember me as such. May I have your opinion, please?—Marie

Dear Marie: A pastel dress is preferable for a divorcee, but your white sheath will be acceptable with the color in the coat and accessories.

'Aunt' and 'Uncle' Are Affectionate Titles

Dear Mrs. Post: I have three grown nephews, who have always called my husband and me, as well as my sister and brother, by our first names without the prefix Aunt or Uncle. I have wondered about this for quite some time and am anxious to know if it is proper. One thing more. Since my nephews call us by our first names, when we send them greeting cards, how should we sign them? Should we sign Jane and John, or Aunt Jane and Uncle John? My sister signs her first name, without aunt preceding it, and she has me doing the same.—Mrs. F.

Dear Mrs. F.: The mistake is not in your signing the card "Jane and John," but in the fact that your nephews do not address you as Aunt and Uncle. There is too little respect for older people and for family relationships as it is, and to ignore such affectionate and time-honored titles is one more evidence of the fact. You cannot change a long established habit now, and since the boys call you Jane and John, you should continue to sign your letters that way.

Winds from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

I just finished wiping up my kitchen floor.

While I was doing it I wondered if anyone else used the kind of "mop rag" that I do. I think I've tried them all — string mops, sponge mops, old socks, and even old underwear. But I have yet to find one that does the job like one of our old nylon sweaters.

Like so many good things, I discovered this quite by accident when a torn nylon sweater was the only "rag" I could find.

Believe it or not, I used that sweater as a mop for two years before I changed it for another one — a nylon again, of course.

I have even used it on the cement floor of the utility room.

It soaks up water or any liquid quickly, and dries quickly, too. It has no time to get a musty smell, even if I forget to rinse it out, which has happened on several occasions.

I surely hope someone else will try out my durable and, to me, highly satisfactory and inexpensive mop.

There's Dessert Pizza — With Ice Cream

If you think of pizza as cheese, sausage, and mushrooms, only, you've been missing something. Think instead of ice cream, preserves, and whipped cream and you'll be in the right mood to try this new Dessert Pizza.

To make it, line a 12-inch pizza pan with pastry or shallowly line two eight-inch pie pans. Bake, cool, and then chill the pastry and spread with a quart of vanilla ice cream that has been softened slightly. Store in the freezer until serving time. Then, with whipped dessert topping and a pastry bag, outline 8 to 12 wedges as shown in the picture — or use whipped topping in a pressure can to get the same effect. Fill the centers of the wedges with preserves, marmalade, or jelly in the colors and flavors that please you most, and you'll have as pretty a dessert as ever came to the table. While it won't taste like any other pizza you've tried before, you'll find it makes mighty fine eating.

1 package (9½ ounce) pie crust mix
1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened slightly
2 envelopes (2 ounces each) whipped dessert topping mix
1 cup milk
1 jar (12 ounce) favorite preserves, marmalade or jelly, or any assortment of preserves and jelly

Prepare pie crust mix as directed on package. Line 12-inch pizza pan with pastry and flute edge. (Or use two 8" pie pans and fill with shallow lining of pastry.) Prick with fork. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees) until lightly browned, 8 to 10 minutes. Cool then chill. Spread ice cream evenly over crust. Store in freezer until ready to serve. Whip dessert topping mix and milk as directed on package and spoon into pastry bag. Or use whipped topping in a pressure can. Outline 8 to 12 wedges and inside edge of crust with topping. Fill centers of wedges with preserves, marmalade, or jelly as desired. Cut into wedges and serve at once. Yield: 12 servings.

DESSERT PIZZA—It's not like any pizza you've ever tasted, for it's a delicious dessert made with ice cream, preserves, and whipped topping in a pizza pastry.

ARTHUR WHITEMORE AND JACK LOWE

Famous Two-Piano Team Will Perform Here April 25; Community Concert Presentation

Two distinguished artists who have been universally acknowledged as music's pre-eminent two-piano team, Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe, will appear in Kingston Tuesday, April 25 at the Community Theater for members of the Community Concert Association.

The concert which is scheduled to begin at 8:30 will be the last of the 1966-67 series.

Whittemore and Lowe are top-flight artists in their field, for they display such incredible virtuosity that they hold their audiences spellbound. As recitalists, they are uniquely successful. Their hallmarks are the creative care with which they build their programs and the striking empathy which they feel for their audiences.

It was the late Kirsten Flagstad who said of them: "There are many marvelous performers before the public today, but very few great recitalists. Whittemore and Lowe certainly must be counted among the few."

During the course of their brilliant career, Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe have run up a record of achievement in all media open to duo-pianists, an achievement that has brought them to the pinnacle of prestige and popularity.

A measure of the high esteem in which they are held is the number of great orchestras with which they have appeared as soloist. Among them are the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Boston Symphony, the Philharmonia of London, as well as such others as the symphony orchestras of Chicago, Cleveland, San Francisco, St. Louis, Washington, Dallas and Detroit.

An indication of their wide popularity is their success on radio, television and in recordings. They have played on practically every radio program that features live, serious music. They have pioneered the classics on T. V. They were the first classic instrumentalists to have their own daily television show. They have made guest appearances on such shows as "Today," the "Bell Telephone Hour" and the famed children's program "Captain Kangaroo," as well as the "Tonight Show."

They have taped a series of thirteen films which are being shown throughout North America. In the recording field, they are among the few serious performers who have sold over one million records.

Their devotion to new music is attested to by their numerous commissions to contemporary composers. They are the only soloists to have performed two major concertos with the New York Philharmonic in a single concert. They introduced in recital and on records, the music of the late Francis Poulenc to the American public.

These renowned artists were both born in the American West and received all of their training in this country. Mr. Whittemore is from South Dakota while Mr. Lowe is from Colorado.

They met as students at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York. After a notable debut in New York's Town Hall, both served in the armed forces. They subsequently returned to the concert field and immediately rose to the position of eminence they now hold.

The joint careers of these two men are among the most successful and impressive in the annals of American music. The Community Concert Association is proud to present these outstanding artists to conclude a brilliant season.

Olive Fire Unit Elects Officers; Fox Is Returned

Albert S. Fox Jr., of Olivebridge, was reelected to his twentieth consecutive year as fire chief of the Olive Fire Department No. 1, Inc. at the recent annual meeting held at the Olivebridge fire hall.

Edwin Secor of Ashokan, was elected president for the sixth consecutive year, and Albert S. Fox Sr. was re-elected for the twentieth time as financial secretary. Attending the meeting were seventy-eight members representing the five fire companies.

Chief Fox, in his annual report, noted a total of 59 calls were answered including, 11 building fires, 18 grass fires, nine auto fires, 19 emergency calls and two mutual aid calls. He also reported an estimated fire loss for the Town of Olive, for the year ending March 31, of $900, a record low. He stated that the total number of fire and emergency calls was considerably lower for the year than it has been for the past several years. This record could be an indication that the people are becoming more fire prevention minded.

The department is doing a good job or probably that lady luck had something to do with this low fire loss, according to Chief Fox.

Study Signal System

He recommended that a study of the signal audibility for the town be continued so that better man power responses may be possible. Additional sirens placed in certain areas, telephone signal systems or radio monitors placed in homes of firemen should be considered in the study.

Chief Fox further stated that with the blending of a fine strong organization, efficient fire fighting equipment and a fine group of firemen, good fire protection for the Town of Olive should continue for years to come. He ended his report by thanking all the officers and men for their cooperation in carrying out the responsibilities and the activities of the department.

Others elected were John V. Bachor of Boiceville, first vice president; Robert Henderson of West Shokan, second vice president; John Adis of Shokan, treasurer; Albert S. Fox Sr. of Olivebridge, financial secretary; Peter S. Tost of Boiceville, secretary; Henry R. of Boiceville, sergeant at arms; Frank Neri of Shokan, steward; and the Rev. Eric L. Forsberg, chaplain. Robert Adis of Shokan, was re-elected assistant fire chief. Howard Trowbridge of Olivebridge and Paul Malek of Shokan were also re-elected directors for companies 1 and 2.

The following company officers were elected:

Company 1 — Olivebridge, Everett Cook, deputy chief; Andrew Farstadt, captain; Frank Miller, first lieutenant; and Rev. Eric L. Forsberg, second lieutenant.

Company 2 — Ashokan and Shokan, Alva Buley Jr., deputy chief; Edwin Swensen, captain; Alva DuBois, first lieutenant; George Fineran, second lieutenant.

Company 3 — West Shokan, Robert Henderson, deputy chief; Marcel Maier, captain; Joseph Certoma, first lieutenant and Edward Roser, second lieutenant.

Company 4 — Krumville and Samsonville, James Quirk, deputy chief; Earl Paul, captain; Helmut Salewski, first lieutenant; and Clifford Barringer, second lieutenant.

Company 5 — Boiceville, John V. Bachor, deputy chief; Robert Davidson, captain; Donald Avery, first lieutenant and John Parete, second lieutenant.

Attorney John J. Lynch of West Shokan, served as chairman for the voting of new officers. Upon completion of the voting, he was given a standing ovation for a job well done.

Edwin Secor, upon returning to the chair as president, made the following announcement: Marcel Maier, delegate and Robert Henderson, alternate delegate to the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association; Fred Keogan, delegate and James Clemens, alternate delegate to the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association; Frank Prochaska, Lou Egbertson and Henry Rank, trustees for the year 1967-1968. President Secor urged the attendance of all officers from the five companies to meet with the Board of Directors on April 24.

President Secor announced that the dinner, commemorating the Twentieth Anniversary of the founding of the Olive Fire Department, will be held on May 20, at the Olivebridge Fire Hall. He also announced that John Moehle, former Superintendent of Schools for the Ontario Central System and presently Superintendent of Schools at Carle Place, Long Island will be the guest speaker.

Among the business activities transacted at the annual meeting was the approval by the membership to continue sponsorship of the local Cub Scouts.

Nazi Successors May Boost Power In Bonn Elections

By TERENCE ANDREW KIEL, Germanv (AP)

Elections Sunday in two states will test the popularity of the new Bonn government and measure a resurgence of German nationalism.

Rightist National Democrats expect to enter with ease the Schleswig-Holstein Parliament here, and they hope for similar success in Mainz, capital of Rhineland Palatinate.

Threaten Free Dems

They threaten to eclipse the Free Democrats, who now govern in both states as partners with the Christian Democrats of Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger. New coalitions may result.

Banking on Kiesinger's popularity, the Christian Democrats are pushing for absolute majorities in both states. They hold 34 of the 69 seats at Kiel, where their FDP partners have 5, and 46 of the 100 seats at Mainz, where the FDP has 11.

Foreign Minister Willy Brandt's Social Democrats also hope to swing into control, drawing strength from their coalition with the Christian Democrats in the federal government at Bonn.

In these two states they are now the second party, with 29 seats in Kiel and 43 in Mainz. These are the first state elections since Kiesinger took over five months ago.

Elections Sombre

In many respects they will be sombre. The parties agreed to cancel further campaigning after Konrad Adenauer's death was announced Wednesday.

The National Democrats, seen by many as potential successors to the Nazis, were in the throes of a national leadership struggle as the campaign reached a climax. Fritz Thielens held on to the chairmanship of the party with the aid of a court ruling, but supporters of Deputy Chairman Adolf von Thadden were in control.

May Get 10 Per Cent

It will not be surprising if the National Democrats gets 10 per cent of the vote in Schleswig-Holstein and more than the 5 per cent they require to seat deputies in the Mainz Parliament. The National Democrats have candidates for the first time in both state elections.

They have deputies in the state legislatures of Hesse and Bavaria and exert an increasing influence on German politics.

Ethics Committee Sees Top Posts Still Unfilled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House ethics committee within a week — but the top jobs on the panel still appear up for grabs.

As party chiefs went into the final rounds of choosing members of the new committee, the two top posts — chairman and ranking minority member — apparently had not been determined.

Rumored Candidates

There was no lack of rumored candidates for the job of drawing up rules of proper fiscal and personal conduct and for the tougher job of enforcing them in particular cases.

Among names figuring in congressional speculation about the chairmanship were Reps. Chet Holifield and B. F. Sisk, both of California; John A. Blatnik of Minnesota and Edward P. Boland of Massachusetts.

All are Democrats. As the majority party in the House the Democrats will name the chairman although the committee, unlike other House committees, will be divided evenly with six members from each party.

GOP Considering

Republicans were understood to be considering placing a veteran leader, Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, at the head of their half of the committee. Halleck was leader of House Republicans for 10 years before his colleagues voted to replace him in 1965 with Gerald R. Ford of Michigan. Also reported to be in the GOP running was H. Allen Smith of California, now senior Republican member of the House Rules Committee.

Dems Mentioned

Mentioned as likely possibilities for some of the Democratic places on the committee were Charles E. Bennett of Florida, who long has campaigned for setting up a regulatory body in the House and served as chairman of a preliminary study committee last year, and Wayne L. Hays of Ohio, chairman of a House Administration subcommittee that conducted an investigation of Adam Clayton Powell's handling of public funds that preceded the Harlem Democratic's exclusion from Congress.

The Democratic Committee on Committees expects to complete its selections by midweek. Republican sources say their final selections can be made quickly.

Between 1956 and 1962 Zierdt, then a colonel, played a key role in development of the Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile and personally directed development work on the Nike Zeus antimissile system.

Stars to Meet Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Sophia Loren, Claudia Cardinale and other leading Italian movie stars are receiving invitations to a special audience with Pope Paul VI on May 6, the Vatican announced Friday.

The audience will mark a world day of social communications. Actors and others in the entertainment field will be admitted to the audience along with journalists, printers and publishers.

Sources said no distinctions were being made on the basis of past notoriety or matrimonial entanglements.

Miss Loren and her husband, Carlo Ponti, are involved in Italian court action because of Ponti's past divorce complications.

Miss Cardinale acknowledged this week that she had a son prior to marriage.

Teen Saw Death In Killer Twister

BELVIDERE, Ill. (AP) — "I knew I was going to die," said 17-year-old Sandy Cameron.

"I saw the rain start breaking through the windshield," said the dark-haired senior at Belvidere High School. "Then the bricks started hitting me, and the metal. I knew I would die. But I wasn't scared. I didn't have time to get scared."

The senior girl, her body bruised, and knee gashed, lived through the tornado that slashed across this northern Illinois city Friday, striking Belvidere High School just as pupils were leaving at the end of the day.

Twenty persons were killed. Many of them died in the wreckage of schoolbuses and automobiles littered across a field of mud for 200 yards.

Gordon Shook, 18, who like Miss Cameron tried to find refuge on the floor of a car, said, "It was all so dark. You could hear it, but you couldn't see it. I was trying to get my head down, but two guys were already there and I couldn't get down."

Shook said he looked up as the winds bore down. "A girl fell," he said, "and somebody said, 'Watch her get blown away.' Then everybody got blown away."

John Berry, 16, fought tears. "We found this little girl," he said, "She was in front of a car. We brought her into the library and I was holding her. She just lay there, staring."

"Then this registered nurse told me, 'She's dead.'"

Berry was in the parking lot when the storm ripped into the school yard. A freshman, Debbie Frank, 14, recalled, "It was just all one big black cloud." But Berry said death came with clouds.

"I looked up and saw all these black clouds and I didn't think much of it," he said. "Then I saw these things, these funnels just dropping out of the clouds. There were six or seven of them."

Boots Flying

"I ran for a field and jumped into a low spot. I just tried to crawl under the mud. I was choking on water. I looked up. There were roofs flying 'all over.'"

Many of the victims were young children. Their grammar school escaped the destruction. The 16 buses lined up at the high school had picked up the elementary children first, then stopped for the older pupils.

Teachers tried to herd the younger children into the safety of a cafeteria.

"The cafeteria was just a pool of blood and mud," Miss Cameron said.

Question Suspect In Death of JFK

MANILA (AP) — Philippine government agents say they are trying to check the story of a Puerto Rican, described as a Communist agent for Cuba, who indicated he was in Dallas to shoot at President John F. Kennedy in 1963.

Officials of the Philippine National Bureau of Investigation said Luis Castillo 24, told them under questioning he had been in Dallas at the time of Kennedy's assassination and had been given a rifle to shoot "a man in an open car."

He also said he entered the Philippines in the guise of a Filipino to contact a communist leader there, the NBI added.

NBI officials presented Castillo to local newsmen Friday, but blocked efforts to gain further interviews with him, saying this might hamper their investigation.

The Manila Times quoted Castillo as saying he had no idea how he got to Dallas and back to Cuba again because he had been out in a trance.

It said Castillo told NBI investigators that he met an unidentified man in Dallas who took a dismantled rifle from a bowling bar, put it together and gave it to the Puerto Rican.

Castillo said he received instructions in Dallas through a woman of German descent — a "Mrs. Jole." The Times said. It quoted Castillo as saying he was not able to use the rifle in Dallas, but heard that a man called Joe had succeeded.

Joe had newspaper reports said the NBI used truth serum, hypnosis and lie detector tests in questioning Castillo.

The NBI said Castillo was arrested in Bulacan Province south of Manila March 2, a month after he entered the country.

The Times quoted NBI agents as saying doctors who examined Castillo found him normal. A newspaper, though, described his condition as "confused" and "tumbled."

Return Lost Boy

There he sat on the curb, crying his four-year-old heart out and scared to death because he had wandered from home and didn't know how to get back. It was a sight that proved to be more than Grover Hungerford, an employee of Kingston Coal and Oil Company, Inc., could bypass. Taking the tot in hand Friday afternoon as he sat lost on The Boulevard, Hungerford turned him over to Kingston City Patrolman James Scott and the men in blue took over from there.

The little boy lost said his name was Michael but that was about all the information he was able to divulge. After a check of the entire area, the tyke's mother, Mrs. Ruth Ferraro, of 17 Liberty Street, was finally located by Patrolman Curtis VanDemark. Without his mother's knowledge, Michael had wandered some four or five blocks from home, lost his sense of direction and was unable to find his way back to the parental homestead. Happily reunited, it will probably be a long time before the pre-schooler goes looking for adventure in the big city streets again or seeks greener grass outside his own backyard.

Rubber Moguls Meet With Union; 50,000 on Strike

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Negotiations will resume Wednesday between three major rubber companies and the United Rubber Workers Union in an effort to end a strike by more than 50,000 workers, the largest to hit the industry since 1959.

The union called its members out against Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., the B.F. Goodrich Co., and Uniroyal, Inc.—members of the rubber industry's Big Four—around midnight Thursday as two-year contracts expired.

Most of the 21,250 rubber workers members employed by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., the other Big Four member, were on the job after union negotiators voted late Thursday to work on a day-to-day basis as bargaining continued.

Meet All Over
Goodyear negotiating sessions are to resume at 10 a.m. Monday in Cincinnati where Uniroyal negotiators will meet Wednesday. Firestone sessions will be in Cleveland and Goodrich's at Columbus.

A contract with the nation's fifth biggest rubber producer, General Tire & Rubber Co., with 3,052 employees, expires May 15. Negotiations are under way in Cleveland.

A mutual aid agreement between General Tire and the Big Four went into effect as the rubber workers put up picket lines across the country, a company spokesman said.

Peter Bommarito, the union's international president, criticized the mutual aid agreement under which the two working companies would lend financial assistance to those struck.

He issued a statement calling the companies' pact "a throwback to the labor baron days of the 1930's" and said it "has strengthened our determination to achieve a fair and equitable settlement."

Bommarito said the compa-

To Probe Shuffles At Amex

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Stock Exchange, second largest in the nation, is investigating possible manipulation of stocks traded on its floor.

The exchange—"Amex"—to brokers—said a "small group of stocks" is involved.

The exchange declined to elaborate beyond a formal announcement made late Friday after the exchange closed for the week.

Cites Activities
Amex President Ralph S. Saul said the stocks "may have been influenced by alleged manipulative activities."

He said the exchange has retained attorneys and is cooperating with the Securities and Exchange Commission and the U.S. attorney's office.

"The pattern of activity which is emerging from the investigation," Saul said, "indicates that certain customers acting in concert were taking sizeable positions in a small number of securities."

"Other members of the public were then urged to purchase the stocks on the strength of merger forecasts or technical considerations."

"As public interest was aroused and prices rose the original group was in a position to sell out at substantial profits."

Financing
"The exchange's investigation also indicates that unregulated lenders have financed to a significant degree the capital needed by the persons engaged in these activities."

Saul said the investigation "underscores the importance of each member organization carefully reviewing its supervisory controls and procedures and determining whether customers are engaging in improper concentrated activity."

He said the exchange has "strengthened its stock watch procedures" so members can check more quickly "the reasons for any unusual concentration or activity in stocks traded on the exchange."

Saul took over the presidency of the exchange last November from Edwin D. Etherington who resigned to become the 12th president of Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn.

As a Securities and Exchange Commission official, Saul played a key role in a 1961 investigation of Amex stock dealings. Later, the exchange's president and general counsel resigned.

No Wraps for Diana
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Officials at the Philadelphia Museum of Art say they have a rule that only museum employees can "handle our own works of art" so a 13-foot nude statue of Diana the huntress couldn't get fitted for a miniskirt.

Officials of a fashion show had wanted to drape Diana in a gold tunic as part of the exhibit of new materials used in women's clothes.

Don't Be Called Beautiful and Dumb

DEAR ABBY: I am a beautiful widow, 53 years of age, but I look much younger. I lost my husband a few years ago and to be perfectly honest with you, I want a man. I have been going with a married man who is much younger than I. I really don't care very much for him, but I make him believe I do, because I feel it is better to have him than no man at all.

I am financially very well off so I don't have to work, but I am almost ready to get a job somewhere so I can meet some men. Can you solve my problem?

BEAUTIFUL BUT UNWANTED

DEAR BEAUTIFUL: Drop the married man unless you want to be known as both beautiful and dumb! Beyond that—a job, yes. But soft-pedal your bank account or you'll end up with the kind of man that will make you wish you were single, solvent and celibate.

DEAR ABBY: I was sitting with my son, my daughter-in-law and my husband when I made the remark that I thought I had been a good mother.

This was followed by a dead silence. Don't you think someone could have spoken up and said something? HURT

DEAR HURT: In that crowd, you're lucky you didn't get an argument.

DEAR ABBY: I know you won't believe me but God be my judge, I am telling you the gospel truth, so here goes: My mother is a widow with seven living children. We are three girls and four boys. All of us married. Mom stays all night with us girls quite often. The problem is Mom hardly ever takes a bath. You can smell her from one room to the next. She hasn't washed her hair in a year, and it looks it. When she gets into a car, the whole car stinks. (Excuse me, Miss Abby, but must speak plain.)

When she gets up in the morning, she never washes her hands, but goes straight into the kitchen to help with breakfast. I don't think she owns a tooth brush anymore.

We are all at the end of our rope. We are good Christian folks and wouldn't hurt our mother's feeling for the world. What can we do? We hate to be disrespectful, but she's getting worse with age.

SISTERS IN W. VA.

DEAR SISTERS: In a subtle, organized campaign remind your mother that she must bathe, shampoo her hair regularly and wear fresh clothing. Her advancing age probably has something to do with her carelessness, but she should be "reminded"—not ignored. When your sisters needed help your mother helped you. Now it's your turn.

DEAR ABBY: After your advice to "HUNGRY FOR LOVE," I am SURE you are a man. That picture you run with your column doesn't fool me a bit. NOT FOOLED

DEAR NOT: Watch "THE GO SHOW" on ABC at 7 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time) on Sunday, April 23rd The gal who plays "ABBY" is the same one who writes this column.

Oliva Hits Two Homers, Only One Counts

Twins' Slugger Goes Past Runner After 1st Clout

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tony Oliva hit his first home run twice and he made sure the second one counted.

The Minnesota outfielder hit a long blast in the third inning of the Twins' 12-4 loss to Detroit Friday night and was happily romping around the bases when — what's this? — he ran right past Cesar Tovar, who for reasons best known to himself, had stopped between first and second. Oliva was out.

But in the ninth, after a 58-minute rain delay, Tony hit a towering shot into the third deck in right field. He knew this one would be good because he was the leadoff batter.

Though it was clear that Oliva had to be called out for passing Tovar, it took some searching of the rule book to clear up the rest of the situation.

Umpire John Stevens allowed Tovar to score, ruling that all he had to do was touch all the bases. Official scorer George Cantor reasoned that since Oliva did get to first base, he should get a single and a run-batted-in.

In other American League games, Boston beat New York 6-1, California edged Cleveland 6-5, Washington nudged Chicago 4-3 and Kansas City took Baltimore 5-1.

Detroit scored seven times in the fourth inning, three runs coming on a homer by Jim Northrup. Al Kaline and Ray Oyler drove in two runs each for the Tigers, and Denny McLain was the winning pitcher.

Rohr Tops Yanks
Bill Rohr went the distance against the Yankees again, the only run off him coming when Elston Howard singled in Bill Robinson in the eighth. Howard spoiled Rohr's no-hit bid with a two-out single in the ninth. Dalton Jones homered for the Red Sox.

Jim Fregosi homered with two out in the ninth, also driving in pinch runner Don Wallace and giving the Angels their victory. Cleveland had gone ahead in the eighth on doubles by Leon Wagner and Duke Sims. Chuck Hinton and Fred Whitfield homered for the Indians.

Ken Harrelson's bases-loaded, two-out single in the ninth drove in Washington's winning runs. Pete Ward hit his third homer for the Sox and Tommie Agee also homered.

Five doubles and Jim Gosger's homer led the Athletics to victory. Jim (Catfish) Hunter held the Orioles to four hits and struck out eight before getting relief help from Jack Aker in the ninth.

St. Mary's Honors CYO Basketeers

St. Mary's CYO will honor four championship basketball teams with a breakfast in the school hall following the 8 a. m. Mass Sunday. Patrick Taaffe, athletic director at John A. Coleman Catholic High school, will be the guest speaker.

Teams to be honored: Pee Wee I—Ulster County CYO and Archdiocesan Upstate champions; Tyro I—Ulster County champions, runner-up in Upstate; Varsity—Ulster County champions; St. Mary's All Stars—winners of first annual John A. Coleman school tournament.

A native of the Bronx, Taaffe attended Cardinal Hayes High School and received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Iona College. He coached basketball and baseball in New York before coming to Kingston to accept the Coleman school post.

Rt. Rev. Monsignor Joseph G. McIntyre, pastor of St. Mary's, Rev. Nicholas Mosunic, CYO moderator at St. Mary's, and Leo A. Schupp, county CYO moderator, will present trophies.

In his Farewell Address, Washington said, "Nation morality cannot prevail in exclusion of religious principle."

SECOND MEETING — Yankees' catcher Elston Howard (L) and Red Sox pitcher Billy Rohr meet again prior to game at Boston's Fenway Park Friday night. The last game Rohr hurled against the Yankees in New York

he had a no-hitter going until Howard belted a single in the ninth inning. It was the only hit. Rohr didn't hurl a one-hitter this time but he did tame the Yankees, 6-1. UPI TELEPHOTO.

LA Home Tilt Is Postponed

First Rainout In Nine Years At Chavez Ravine

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was almost as if the heavens opened in mercy over Chavez Ravine.

Buried in ninth place with five losses in their first seven games, the National League champion Los Angeles Dodgers could be excused if they approached their four-game series with red hot St. Louis somewhat less than enthusiastically.

After all, the first place Cardinals had won six of their first seven games and had fireballing Bob Gibson, 2-0, set to open against the punchless Dodgers Friday night.

About the only thing Los Angeles could hope for was a miracle: like maybe rain in California.

Now any native will tell you that rain in California is about as rare as snow in Florida. The Dodgers hadn't lost an inning to the elements in nine years since moving from that nasty Brooklyn climate. They'd played 737 consecutive games at home including exhibitions and World Series.

But Friday night, it rained in Los Angeles, and the Dodgers didn't have to play the Cardinals.

Not only did the weather keep the Dodgers idle, but it moved up the California coast and wiped out the San Francisco Giants' game against Atlanta.

That kept the Giants, 2-1, in last place, one game back of the Dodgers, and five off the pace of the Cardinals.

Three National League games were played Friday. Vada Pinson's 10th inning triple drove in two runs as Cincinnati trimmed Houston 3-1. The New York Mets broke Jim Bunning's hex against them, downing Philadelphia 6-3, and Bob Veale's two-hitter gave Pittsburgh a 6-1 victory over Chicago.

The Cardinals and Dodgers were scheduled to go again tonight, with Gibson set to go against Los Angeles' Don Drysdale.

In San Francisco, the Giants were scheduled to send Gaylord Perry against Denny Lemaster of the Braves in an afternoon game.

Pinson was the Reds' hero for the second straight night as Cincinnati played its third consecutive extra inning game.

His triple drove in Art Shamsky who had walked and Tommy Harper, who had singled. It was Pinson who stroked a single in the 13th inning Thursday night to beat the Dodgers.

Bill Mazeroski and Gene Alley, the Pirates' second-base-shortstop combination, socked consecutive homers against the Cubs in the second inning, igniting Pittsburgh's victory.

Veale became the first Pirate pitcher to go the route. One of the two hits he allowed was a homer by Adolpho Phillips, accounting for Chicago's only run.

The winner returned $14.60. At Batavia Downs, Proud Yankee won the $3,000 invitation to race by two lengths, Ozark Peter finished second and Royal Tony third.

The winner, timed in 2:08 3-5, Alex Song won the $1,500 trotting feature at Saratoga Raceway, the third harness track now operating in New York State. Firm Yankee was second, 1 1/2 lengths back, and Hoosier Diplomat third.

The time was 2:07 1-5, Alex Song paid $14.60.

At Miami Beach, Fla. (AP) — Harry G. Sherwood of Burbank, Calif., was elected president of the American Bowling Congress for the 1967-68 season.

Barry, whose 55 point output in San Francisco, led to the Warriors' only victory so far in the series, has scored more points than anyone else, 165, but is shooting at 40 per cent. While Philadelphia's Chamberlain ranks first in percentage, with 53.2 per cent, but is seventh in total points, 62.

Examining the figures, after the teams flew back for Sunday's fifth game, Chamberlain joked a bit about the way the shooting is going.

"My guards can't seem to locate me," he joked. "They forget old Wilt's even in the ball game. If Barry had my guards he probably wouldn't see the ball either. You know I didn't get one shot in the second half last night. Not one." The 76ers' 112-108 victory Thursday night put them ahead 3-1 in the best of seven series.

Actually the 76ers' strategy all season has been for Chamberlain to take fewer shots and to pass off to the shooters with the hot hand. It's paying off in this post-season exercise, too. With assists from Chamberlain, Hal Greer is averaging 30.3 points, and Wally Jones is shooting 50 per cent.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Harry G. Sherwood of Burbank, Calif., was elected president of the American Bowling Congress for the 1967-68 season.

Red Hook Tops Rhinebeck, 10-3

Red Hook scored in every inning but the first and went on to beat rival Rhinebeck, 10-3, in a DCSL game Friday at the losers' diamond.

The contest was halted by darkness after the sixth frame.

Jim Ryun Shoots for Record In 42nd Annual Kansas Relays

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

Associated Press Sports Writer

LAWRENCE, Kans. (AP) — World record holder Jim Ryun of Kansas shoots for a 3:55 mile in today's 19-event card closing the 42nd Kansas Relays.

Seven final events and numerous trials Friday produced two meet records — a 14:19 by Olympian Osoar Moore of Southern Illinois in the 5,000 meters and a 40.2 in the 440 relay trials by Texas Southern.

Ryun, the 19-year-old Sullivan Award winner, views the Glenn Cunningham mile as an experiment. He'll be rested for an all-out shot at his meet record 3:55.8 "to find out whether I need to change my training schedule."

What would a 3:55 mile tell him? "If it was a hard 3:55," Ryun said, "I'd feel like I needed more speed work. If it was a 3:55 like last year's when I felt good and easy, well, I might need more volume running — cross country and so forth."

Ryun said his world record 3:51.3 is too fast for this time of year.

Refuses to Drive With Snake in Car

DETROIT (AP)—L.J. Wood's automobile sits abandoned in the company parking lot and Wood says it will stay there until he knows a five-foot greenish-blue snake is gone.

The reptile first reared its forked tongue last Saturday when Wood got into the car outside his home in suburban Bloomfield Hills.

Wood departed, leaving the door ajar, hoping the snake would go. He checked later: no snake.

Wood drove to work Wednesday. The snake reappeared as his superiors piled into his car on their way to lunch.

A broom was called in. By then the snake had disappeared again.

Thursday, Police Opl. Robert Adaline looked into Wood's car. Coiled upon the driver's seat, the snake looked back. It slithered into the inner recesses of the seat.

Probe Jet Crash Which Killed Two In Navy Testing

CALVERTON, N.Y. (AP) — A test model of the F111B jet fighter crashed and exploded here Friday, only seconds after taking off, killing its two-man crew.

An investigation of the crash was begun immediately.

The F111B is the Navy version of the controversial TFX standard fighter being developed for the Navy, Air Force and Marines.

The dead were identified as Ralph H. Donnell, 46, the craft's chief test pilot and senior test pilot for Grumman Aircraft Corp., and Charles E. Wangerman Jr., 29, an air veteran of the Vietnam war.

The crash occurred at Grumman's Peconic River facility on Long Island.

Exploded on Impact

A Grumman spokesman said the variable-wing plane attained an altitude of 100 to 200 feet when it fell to earth, exploding on impact. Wreckage was scattered some 800 feet along the field's 10,000-foot runway.

There have been only five test models of the F111B.

Early this year an F111A — an Air Force model — crashed on landing work. Inquire in person.

Store, 337 Washington Ave.

A brush fire that burned over about three acres off Cottekill Road Friday afternoon, was extinguished by fire fighters from Cottekill, Rosendale, High Falls and Stone Ridge fire companies. Chief Ralph Temple Jr., of Cottekill, said the outside companies were called to assist through mutual aid. A dispatcher at the county Fire Control Center also reported West Camp fire units checked a brush fire, Centerville volunteers extinguished a grass fire, and High Falls firemen were called out to quell a fire in a dump in that district.

Resnick Lists $16,991 Planning Grant for Esopus

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick today announced that the Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a $16,991 grant for the Town of Esopus.

The funds are part of a total $73,330 five-town grant approved under the Urban Planning Assistance Program to help pay for the comprehensive planning for growth and development of these towns.

Total cost of the Esopus project is $25,485. The HUD grant, which is payable to the state, will cover two-thirds of the total cost of planning work, and will finance planning activities for two years. Grants under the Urban Planning Assistance program are used in counties and small cities to help pay for planning work such as preparation of base maps, analysis of land use, population and economic conditions, preparation of a comprehensive development plan, and measures to implement this planning, such as zoning and subdivision regulations.

Down 7 Tricks Good Sacrifice

By Oswald & James Jacoby Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Victor Mollo discusses sacrifice bidding in "Success at Bridge." He starts by giving a horrible example of a man taking a 1,300-point set only to find out later that his adversaries would not have made their game.

Then he is kind enough to give a hand played by Jim Jacoby and Bob Nail against France in the 1963 World's championships.

Theron of France, sitting West, opened one heart and after Nail passed Desrousseaux, East, jumped to two spades. Mollo's comment: "Sitting South was Jim Jacoby with one of those unbalanced hands that seem to run in the family. At the worst Jim could go down five tricks for a 900-point loss but four diamonds bid he wanted to make it hard for his opponents to bid their good hands to best advantage. In addition, if he were to go down five at four diamonds then East and West surely had a slam."

Jim's four diamond bid did not stop the French from bidding to the laydown six hearts but it did give Bobby Nail a chance to go into action. Bobby defended at seven diamonds and the best the French could do was to double him, and collect 1,300 points by perfect defense.

Theron opened the queen of hearts. Desrousseaux overtook and returned the ten of clubs. Theron cashed his ace and king and gave his partner a ruff. East proceeded to play ace and

Minor County Fires

Volunteer firefighters in several area communities responded to calls on Thursday to extinguish minor fires. Brush fires were reported at Plattekill, Ruby, St. Remy, and Bloomingville volunteers checked woods fires, and Woodstock firemen extinguished a grass fire in that district. Saugerties units responded to an alarm after a dump fire was reported. Friday morning, West Camp firemen were called out to extinguish a brush fire, according to records at the County Fire Control Center.

Four Are Injured As Vehicle Rolls Down 40-Foot Hill

Four persons, including three children, narrowly escaped serious injury shortly before noon Friday, when the car in which they were riding went out of control on River Road, Town of Esopus and rolled down a 40-foot embankment.

State Trooper John Crodelle of Highland, said Mrs. Joyce B. Bence, 28, of Ulster Park, was driving north on River Road when her son, William, 3, jumped from the back seat to the front and pushed his mother's right arm.

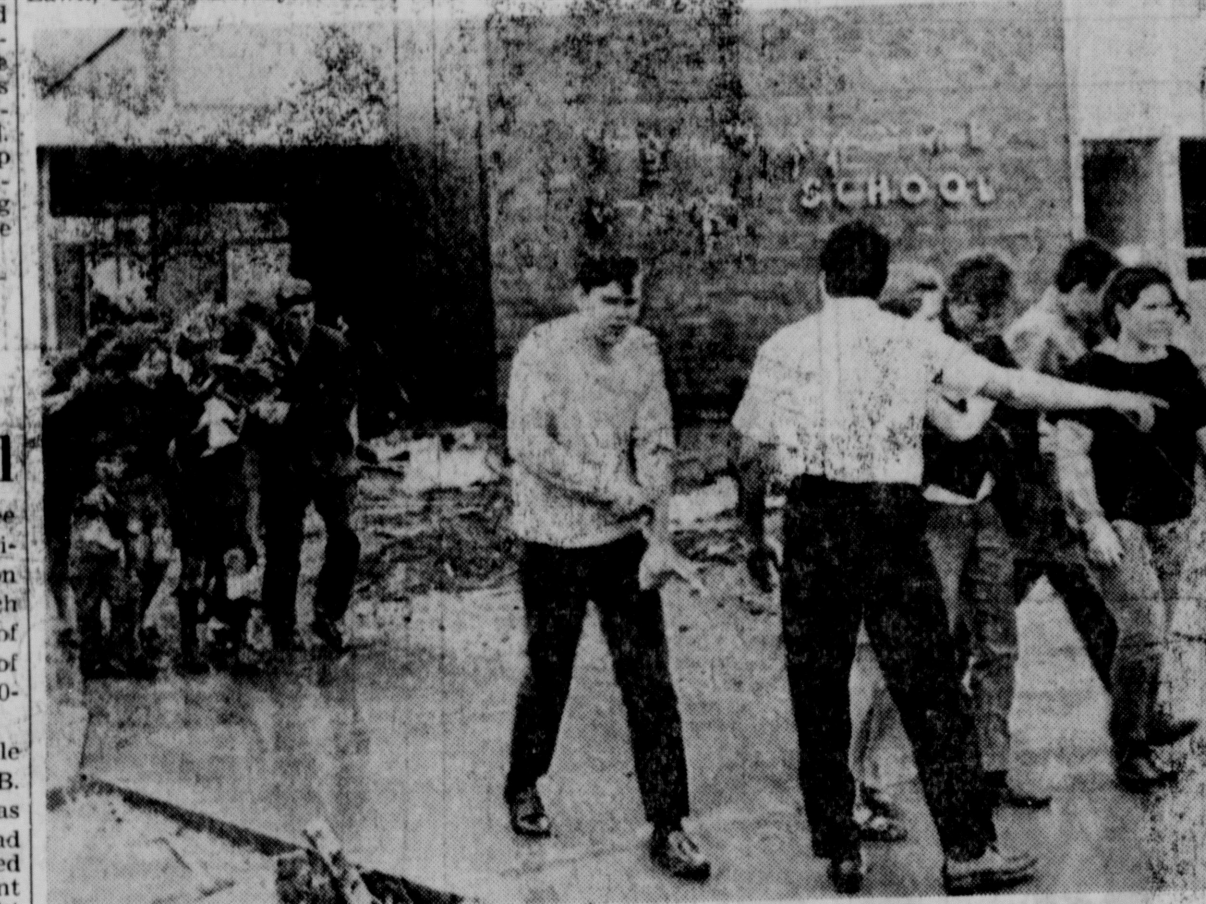

Mrs. Bence lost control as the car veered off the road and rolled down the embankment coming to a stop against a tree at the edge of the Hudson River, according to Trooper Crodelle. Mrs. Bence sustained injuries of the left leg.

Passengers in the car were, William Bence, son of the driver; Cindy Miller, 5, of 53 German Street, city, and her brother, Tracy, 1. The injured were taken to Kingston Hospital by Trooper Crodelle and treated for minor injuries.

The small group of Seminole Indians in Florida finally signed a peace treaty with the U.S. in 1934.

Claims State's Evidence Against Cop'lino No Good

NAPLES, Fla. (AP)—A nationally recognized expert in anesthesiology has testified that the state's evidence of death by drugging in the Coppolino murder trial was not arrived at by "scientific method."

"When you come up with one figure that has to be multiplied by three to get another figure, that is not scientific method," Dr. Francis Foldes, chief of anesthesiology at New York's Montefiore Hospital, said Friday.

Foldes challenged the state's experts who claim Dr. Carl Coppolino, 34, murdered his wife, Carmela, 32, with a paralyzing drug. Dr. Milton Helpert, New York City medical examiner and a participant in more than 18,000 autopsies, has testified for the prosecution that Carmela died of "a classic toxic overdose of succinylcholine."

Helpert said 4.5 milligrams of succinic acid was detected in the brain of the dead woman and, assuming that only 35 per cent of the total was recovered, the quantity could be increased to 12 milligrams per kilogram. His opinion was based on a search for succinic acid. Foldes, whose opinion was based on the amount of choline found at the injection site in the exhumed body, said Carmela's death "was not due...to a large dose of succinylcholine."

Fear Major Strike Of UAW Members

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers will take to the bargaining table later this year a broad set of contract demands which many see as foreboding of a strike.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther estimated fewer than 10 among some 3,000 convention delegates opposed the goals as they were adopted Friday. An auto industry spokesman estimated money to meet them would "run into astronomical figures."

With the goals outlined, Reuther came to a showdown today with his 1.4 million-member union on his threat to remove it from the AFL-CIO.

All indications pointed to Reuther getting what he wants: authority for his international executive board to pull the union out of the AFL-CIO, when and if it chooses.

Reuther Hits Meany

Reuther has demanded, in effect, reconstruction of the AFL-CIO as the price of his union remaining a member. He has accused the federation of permitting the labor movement to "vegetate" under leadership of George Meany.

Some delegates predicted from the convention floor before the new contract goals were adopted that a strike would be necessary to win a major portion of them.

Reuther, pleading that delegates "not tie our hands," got the flexibility he sought in goals. The convention avoided mentioning dollars or cents per hour anywhere. Because of this, an industry spokesman said an immediate monetary calculation of costs was impossible. The goals include a substantial wage increase, a guaranteed annual income, parity pay for Canadian auto plant workers, higher pensions, earlier retirement and continuation of a cost-of-living wage escalator and a so-called annual improvement factor, among other things.

Reuther told delegates a substantial wage increase will be given "the highest priority and the greatest of urgency." He is on record as saying he will sign no contract failing to include a guaranteed annual income.

The current straight-time average hourly wage in the automotive industry as a whole is figured at $3.36 by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Under a guaranteed annual income, Reuther says a worker will know at the beginning of any year what his income will be for the next 12 months, whether or not any layoffs intervene.

Nice Benefits Now

Retirement is now possible at age 60 at up to $400 a month pension; up to $200 at age 55.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock says workers in Canadian plants of General Motors Corp. average 41 cents hourly less than workers in GM's U.S. plants.

Since current three-year contracts were negotiated in 1964, wages have risen up 16 cents hourly on the cost-of-living escalator, which rises or falls with the government's index.

The annual improvement factor, designed to give workers a share in cost-saving technological advancements, has added, according to UAW estimates, another 16.1 cents hourly. Each year it boosts wages 2.8 per cent or 7 cents hourly, whichever is greater.

Reuther said money to meet the demands could come from what he termed "fantastic profits" of the automakers. He said that from 1962 through 1966 profits totaled $27 billion and dividends were increased 80 per cent.

'Soldier in Love' — Vivid Personality Drama Stars All-British Cast

By DON ROYAL

NEW YORK

An all-British starring cast of Jean Simmons, Claire Bloom and Keith Michell will bring the 90-minute original television drama, "Soldier in Love," to NBC viewers in color on Wednesday evening April 26, 7:30-9 p. m. Eastern time, on the Hallmark Hall of Fame.

Miss Simmons portrays Sarah Jennings, later the Duchess of Marlborough, lifetime friend and court adviser to Queen Anne, and one of the most powerful women of the 18th century. The queen, a tragic figure and the last of England's Tudor monarchs, is played by Claire Bloom.

Michell, a fast-rising figure in the British theater, plays the first Duke of Marlborough, dashing warrior hero of the Battle of Blenheim and Sir Winston's favorite and most famous ancestor, John Churchill.

Playwright Jerome Ross has woven the personal story of these three private lives into the tumultuous tapestry of this little-known period of English history, bringing to light in dramatic fashion the amazing influence their relationships to each other had upon the course of world events.

From their early youth, Princess Anne and Sarah were devoted friends and confidantes, recognizing in private no differences of rank between them. They addressed each other as "Mrs. Morley" and "Mrs. Freeman."

Young Churchill, already a colonel in the regiment of the Duke of York (Anne's father, played by veteran performer Basil Rathbone), was considered a prize catch at court but his marriage to Sarah met with disapproval because neither family, although both members of the gentry, had lands or wealth of an consequence.

Princess Anne, however, was delighted that her beautiful and charming Sarah had chosen the handsome guardsman, to whom she also felt strongly attracted. Anne was a shy, dull and unattractive girl who knew her own marriage would be the result of her royal position. Throughout her life, she enjoyed her close association with this romantic, ideal couple.

While John's military successes brought victory to England and titles, honors and wealth to him, Sarah found Anne, now the queen, leaning more and more on her judgement and attention. Her influence grew and she kept her husband's forces in funds for supplies and munitions and shielded the queen from those at court who favored ending the wars and their constant drain on the public purse.

The rise and ultimate fall from grace of the Marlboroughs and the circumstances surrounding the Queen's change of heart make some of the most dramatic sequences in the play.

Claire Bloom is one of the most attractive women in the theater but she sacrifices her beauty for her art in "Soldier in Love." Queen Anne lost 15 children in childbirth and infancy, and her beloved son and heir, the Duke of Gloucester, died of smallpox while still in his teens. In later years, Anne indulged in self-pity, was slovenly in appearance and was given to an excessive appetite for wines and rich foods.

While Sarah's influence became the talk of Europe, the queen was cruelly referred to as "Brandy Nan." As the play continues through their late years, the contrast between the two women is startling. The drama is a tour de force for the two actresses.

JEAN SIMMONS, left, as Sarah Jennings, Lady-in-waiting to Princess Anne (Claire Bloom, right, links fingers with her future sovereign in playful mood in early scene from "Soldier in Love," to be seen on Hallmark Hall of Fame on Wednesday evening (April 26, 7:30-9 p. m. Eastern time) in color on NBC. Keith Michell, who plays John Churchill, later Duke of Marlborough and Sarah's husband, is the amused onlooker.

In separate interviews during the rehearsal period, each confided that she'd have taken either roll had the other been offered by Hallmark's producer-director George Schaefer.

Following one particular scene in which there is a confrontation between the two women, Basil Rathbone was standing off-camera beside Miss Bloom's real-life husband, Rod Steiger. Rathbone turned to his fellow actor, visibly moved, and said: "Pardon me, sir, but I must kiss your wife. That was a magnificent scene!"

Jerome Ross, who has written scripts for some of the best-known dramas on television — "Studio One," "Kraft Theater" among them—spent three years researching and writing "Soldier in Love."

Ross said, he was commissioned to do the play about Marlborough as a result of the keen interest in this historical figure on the part of Joyce C. Hall, founder and board chairman of Hallmark Cards, Inc., sponsor of the distinguished television series now completing its 16th season of drama specials.

Hall and the late Winston Churchill were close friends for many years and it was Churchill's book about his famous ancestor that first prompted Hall's interest in the period.

Miss Simmons won an Academy Award nomination at age 14 in her first motion picture appearance, the role of Aphelia in Sir Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet." Her film starring roles include appearances in "Desiree,"

"Elmer Gantry" (for which her director husband, Richard Brooks, received an Academy Award), "Life at the Top" and "Divorce American Style."

Miss Bloom is currently co-starring with Richard Burton in the film version of "The Spy Who Came in from the Cold." Her noteworthy career in films, television and theater both here and abroad include her Broadway appearance in "Rashomon"

(in which she met and married costar Rod Steiger) and star film credits for "The Chapman Report," "The Haunting" and "The Outrage."

Michell has starred on Broadway in "The Rehearsal" and "Irma La Douce." He returned to London following "Soldier in Love" to star in a musical version of "A Tale of Two Cities" which is scheduled to come to New York later this year.

TV Questions & Answers

A PONDEROUS QUESTION—On Bonanza, what does the word Ponderosa stand for? — G. W., Portland, Ore.

The Ponderosa Ranch is named for the Pincus Ponderosa, or Bull Pine tree, a particularly high and heavy member of the fir family.

PAULINE'S PERILS—Is Pauline Frederick of the news shows the same Miss Frederick the actress who appeared in silent films?—L.M.S., Deer Creek, Ill.

Pity poor Pauline who has lived with the stigma of a name for so many years. If they were the same, the Pauline you see on NBC newscasts would have to be a tottering old woman. Miss Frederick, who serves as NBC correspondent at the United Nations, has been in news all her adult life and had probably accomplished more in that field than any other member of her gender.

KING BING—I say Bing Crosby owns all or part of Hollywood Palace. Right? — W. M., Homestead, Fla.

Wrong. There's no doubt Bing is King of the Palace by virtue of his many guest appearances. There is also the possibility that Bing may be a silent partner somewhere along the line since his investments are so many and diverse. But, for the record, Hollywood is a property of Zodiak Productions and producers Nick Vanoff and William Harbach.

PERCY PLAYER PA—Who played Pa Kettle in the movies and what has happened to him? We never see him anymore.—M. W., Abilene, Tex.

Percy Kilbride played Pa Kettle. He passed away a few years ago.

LOVE OF CHARLEY—The Charley Brown baseball show was a sheer delight. I've read there are to be more. When is the next? — J. W., Miami, Fla.

You're in Love, Charley Brown will be telecast on Monday, June 12.

HANDY ANDY—I have read in separate stories that Andy Griffith will be on again next year in his same series and that he will star in three specials next year. Can he do both or is there some mistake? — T. L., Saginaw, Mich.

There is a mistake. Griffith signed a contract with CBS which calls for continuance of his series next year, and three specials, one a year, beginning the following year, 1968. If the series is continued in the '68 season, Andy would then have the problem of doing both, which should not be all that great a task.

CHAT WITH CHET—What is Chet Huntley's phone number and address?—P. F., Miami, Fla.

If you have something nice to say, you can reach him at 212-247-8300, or 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N. Y., 10021. If you have anything else to say, please don't. He's gotten enough of those.

STRIKE OUT—I'd like to know which of my favorite shows is staying on next year. They are The Phyllis Diller Show, Gilligan's Island, The Green Hornet and Candid Camera.—C. B., Wichita, Kans.

Four strikes and you're out. Every one of the series has been cancelled.

Viewer Decides Samurai Death

Ricardo Montalban, Carol Lawrence and Oscar Homolka, three outstanding theatrical personalities, will start in Fay and Michael Kanin's adaptation of "Rashomon" the NTA presentation of THE PLAY OF THE WEEK Sunday, April 23 at 8:30 p. m. on Channel 17.

Based on the Japanese fables of Akutagawa, written over a thousand years ago, "Rashomon" concerns the circumstances surrounding the death of a samurai officer, killed outside the gates of the Rashomon Castle. A bandit is accused of the crime, but at his trial, three versions of how the samurai's death occurred are exposed. The viewer is called upon to decide which version is the truth, or, if all are, in fact, merely a point of view.

Miss Lawrence will play the wife of the samurai; Mr. Montalban is cast as the bandit and Mr. Homolka once again plays the part of the wig-maker, the role he portrays in the original Broadway production.

Others in the cast include James Mitchell as the samurai, Michael Shillo as the woodcutter, Osceola Archer as the mother, and Aida Lioy as the medium. "Rashomon" was directed by Sidney Lumet and produced by Lewis Freedman. Worthington Miner is Executive Producer.

When William Schallert, who used to play Patty Duke's father on her TV series, was cast as 91-year-old Adm. ## Price Reviews Musical Career

International opera and concert soprano Leontyne Price reviews her musical career in an exclusive interview on National Educational Television's "Musically Speaking: Leontyne Price"

Sunday, April 23 at 7:30 p. m. on Channel 17.

Filmed in its entirety in her Greenwich Village, New York, apartment, the program shows Miss Price discussing her career with noted musicologist George Marek, vice-president and general manager of RCA.

Recalling her childhood in Laurel, Mississippi, the soprano tells of her early interests in singing as a grammar school student, reflects on how she began serious voice study when awarded a scholarship at Juilliard, and talks of some of her more personally rewarding professional performances such as singing the role of Bess in "Porgy and Bess."

"Musically Speaking: Leontyne Price" is a presentation of National Educational Television, produced with the assistance of the RCA Record Division under a special grant to N.E.T. Producer-director: Nathan Kroll. Editor: Miriam Arshom.

A Message to Advertisers!

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE
READ THE WANT ADS EVERY DAY!

Among the large audience there's bound to be somebody who wants the things you have to offer. That person is not going to spend time, effort, money or gasoline to find out details of your proposition UNLESS you have worded your message so that it interests him. A few more words may mean a lot more dollars in your pocket . . . remember that when you place your next advertisement.

The next time you call an ad taker to place a Want Ad in the Daily Freeman, stop and consider this. You are about to spend some money for an advertisement and you want to get the utmost in results. To accomplish this your ad should tell ALL the details about the things you are trying to accomplish. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that frequently prevent results . . .

DON'T

OMIT THE ADDRESS!

Many out of town readers will write you but will not spend money for a long distance call.

DON'T

OMIT THE PHONE NUMBER!

DON'T

USE BLIND BOX NUMBERS!

Avoid them at all costs. They are difficult to answer. It is more convenient to phone.

DON'T

LEAVE HOME ON DAYS OTHERS MIGHT ANSWER YOUR AD!

DON'T

OMIT WORDS THAT WOULD TEND TO INCREASE THE NUMBER OF RESPONSES

DON'T

CONCEAL THE PRICE DESIRED!

Surveys show that many people will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

DO

GIVE YOUR AD SOME THOUGHT BEFORE CALLING!

DO

RUN YOUR AD MORE THAN ONE DAY! Not all of our readers are home every day. Just the person who wants what you are offering may not see your ad until the 9th or 10th time it runs.

Buy Bonds where you work.

He does.

It's miserable work, crawling through a rice paddy. And being shot at. This American does the job for freedom's sake. So do thousands of his buddies. Many of these brave men also support freedom with their dollars. A majority of our servicemen overseas are investing in U.S. Savings Bonds. Would you like to show this man you're with him? One good way is to buy Savings Bonds where you bank or join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. You'll make a good investment. And you'll walk a bit taller.

U.S. Savings Bonds

Bond facts: Savings Bonds pay you back $4 for every $3 at maturity in only seven years . . . are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen . . . have special tax advantages . . . can be redeemed whenever the need arises.

The U.S. Government does not pay for this advertisement. It is presented as a public service in cooperation with the Treasury Department and The Advertising Council.

Too Many Changes

There was a difference of opinion about a recent episode of Star Trek which sent the series heroes back through a time vortex into the 1930s. Producer Gene Roddenberry was very happy about the outcome of the show. But Harlan Ellison, who wrote the script, objected to having his name connected with it because there had been too many changes. Ellison is now working on scripts for a new series for next season, Cimarron Strip, and he says, "I have come up with some fascinating research that shows Jack the Ripper was actually in the early West."

Surge of Interest In Protest Plays

With the great surge of interest in protest plays such as "Mac Bird," SHOWCASE on Channel 17 will present "Stage for Protest," Saturday, April 29 at 8:00 p. m. The program will be repeated Sunday, April 30 at 3:30 p. m.

"Stage for Protest" will concentrate on protest as it has been expressed in the theatre and song. Scenes from three well-known plays—protest plays in their time—"Major Barbara" by George Bernard Shaw, "Blues for Mr. Charlie" by James Baldwin and "The Resistible Rise of Arturo Ui" by Bertolt Brecht will be presented. Starring in these scenes are James Daly, Anthony Holland, P. Jay Sidney and Michael Tolan.

Harold Churman, noted director and critic, will comment on the theatre's involvement in protest over the years, the effects of protest plays, the artistic merits weighed against the importance of the issues and the current trend in protest plays.

Between scenes, the program will feature songs of protest arranged and conducted by Robert De Cormier and sung by four of his singers.

"Stage for Protest" was produced by Larry Arrick and directed by David Pressman for WNDT—Channel 13.

SHOWCASE is made possible by a public service grant from the National Endowment for the Arts and Bristol-Myers Company in association with its divisions.

Ask TV Scout

MORE MOVIES — I am a movie fan and am worried about all the new programs and specials that are coming up next year. Does this mean the movies will be lessened? — T.S., Champaign, Ill.

According to present schedules, there will be more movies on next year: six nights as opposed to five nights a week presently telecast. However, you are right to question the specials, since many of these will preempt the movies. Just how many cannot be ascertained at this time.

High Rating

Hollywood Palace producer Nick Vanoff had never heard of the Buffalo Springfield and was reluctant to book them on the show. But the group's manager made a deal that if their record, "For What It's Worth" didn't make the top 40 the first week of its release, he would refund the usual $2,500 such acts get on the Palace. The latest charts have the album at number seven.

Many Parts for Henry Jones

HOLLYWOOD — Remember the sly, nagging janitor in the Broadway play and then in the movie version of "The Bad Seed"?

Chances are you remember the character but not the name of the actor.

The name is Henry Jones. As a character actor he has appeared in scores of movies, Broadway plays and in over 200 television shows including the series Channing.

He played the college dean for 26 chapters of Channing.

"But the series," he admits, "was a colossal flop. Our competition was The Eleventh Hour and Danny Kaye and no one even noticed us."

But with all of his movie and Broadway credits, Henry Jones is frank about paying tribute to television.

"Until television came along," he says, "I was never sure I could pay the rent."

On May 4 on CBS-TV you will see Henry Jones playing the role of the Rev. Mr. Parris in Arthur Miller's The Crucible, a drama special starring a cast of 50 headed by George C. Scott, Colleen Dewhurst, Melvyn Douglas, Tuesday Weld and Fritz Weaver.

The drama is about the Salem, Mass., witchcraft trials of 1692. "But now look at me," Jones laughed on the set of a Paramount movie in which he plays a doctor in the year 2182.

He was wearing futuristic silver trousers and blouse. In his pocket was a "life ray" gun. On his wrist was a tiny, crystal bandless watch.

"This is the fun of being a character actor," he said. "One day you are back in 1692 and the next you are in the year 2182. A couple of weeks ago I played a dual role on The Man From U.N.C.L.E. — a college dean and a THRUSH agent who look like identical twins. I even have a fight with myself. A goodie and a baddie in the same show—that's living for an actor."

In another time and another place, live TV drama in New York during the '50s, Henry Jones also played good guys and bad guys and he still laughs about the situation in which he found himself.

"On NBC I was typed for playing nuts and killers. But on CBS they typed me for rustic comedy. Well, this went on until the NBC people watching CBS shows and the CBS people watching NBC shows made a big decision.

"The next season I found the situation reversed—I was playing nuts and killers on CBS and rustic comedy on NBC."

At first glance Henry Jones resembles comedian Tom Ewell and, on occasion, he has been mistaken for him. "But," he says, "I really look more like King Donovan, the actor married to Imogene Coca. One night in a New York restaurant, where I was dining alone and King was waiting at a table for Imogene, she actually started to sit down with me before saying, 'Oh, I beg your pardon.' Later they asked me to join them and everyone in the place thought they were seeing double."

Cost Too High

Insiders say the reason F Troop was canceled is that the show costs about $5,000 more per week to produce than it should. Some of that money has been spent on "out-takes," scenes that couldn't be used because everyone connected with the show is a clown. Recently, in a scene involving Larry Storch, Forrest Tucker calmly walked into the shot, poured a pitcher of beer over Storch's head, then walked out again.

NIPSEY RUSSELL

Gunsmoke Changes

There has been lots of talk that Gunsmoke is going to be changed a bit next season, when the adult Western switches to children's time: 7:30 (EST) on Mondays. But here's what producer John Mantley told TV SCOUT: "There has been a rash of ill-advised statements about our policy next season. These are not true. Jim Arness, CBS and I are in complete agreement that the only restrictions will be any references to rape or physical violence involving Kitty or the women in the stories. Kitty has been been pawed a lot in the past, but that's out now."

Russell Has 'Fool-osophy'

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — Nipsey Russell, the comedian Jack Paar launched into orbit with 17 guest appearances, referred to himself as "the contemporary observer."

But then he said:

"I don't feel I have a mission in life. My only mission is to look for fun, the lighter side of life. I spell it fool-osophy."

Nipsey's "fool-osophy" can be this advice to college students he entertained on a recent campus tour: "If they can make penicillin out of moldy cheese, they can make something out of you."

Or about why he never jests about Frank Sinatra:

"The Mafia is stronger than the NAACP — I don't want to wind up with a mouthful of cement."

Or what he thinks of today's feminine gowns:

"I don't know whether they are outside of those dresses trying to get in or inside trying to get out."

Or about why he has never married:

"I'm living the life of liberty, happiness and pursuit."

Nipsey was about to return to New York, his home between big time night club appearances, after taping an NBC-TV color special, The Colgate Comedy Hour, scheduled for Thursday evening May 11.

The special features several other comedians, including Shelley Berman, Bob Newhart, Allan Sherman and Carl Reiner in classic routines which are introduced as "things you would have seen or heard during the last 10 years had the Colgate Comedy Hour remained on the air."

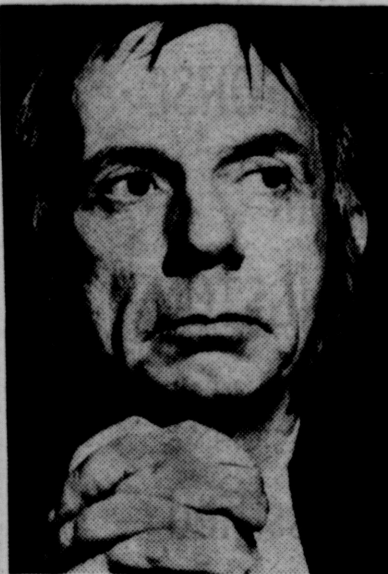

If you have been wondering about the name Nipsey, it's really Julius Russell. "Nipsey" was a term of endearment bestowed upon him by his parents, who were household help in Atlanta, Ga., when he was born. As a child, says Nipsey, "there was only one idol for our race—dancer Bill Robinson—so I took up dancing lessons and worked with carnivals until I was 15."

His dancing feet paid Nipsey's way through college. He graduated from the University of Cincinnati as a liberal arts major. Then he spent three and a half years with the army, winding up as a captain.

As a juvenile hooper, college student and serviceman, Nipsey always looked at the lighter side of life with amusing comments about everything. This gift led him to a night club in Harlem, from where he emerged to national TV prominence as one of Jack Paar's favorite guests.

In another five years he would like to hand in his quips and join the production side of TV. He is intrigued with the idea of injecting his humor into educational TV. He says:

"It needs a spoonful of sugar—that's what makes the medicine go down."

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED WANT AD . . .

1. IT'S always best to start your advertisement with the name of the article or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment or room for rent or property for sale, start your advertisement with the location and/or town or city in which it is located.
2. BE clear. Readers respond more quickly and favorably.
3. MAKE it easy for the reader-prospect to reach you, when given complete or definite information. Always insert your telephone number or your name and address. If you do not have regular hours, give a preferred time to have prospects contact you.
4. THE greatest reader attention can be secured by your advertisement by using consecutive insertions. Play safe—a six-day order is best and the rate is lower! You can stop your ad when you get results and the charge will be adjusted to the appropriate rate.
5. PLACE yourself in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know (about your offer). The answer you give will make a good Classified Want Ad.
6. WANT ads that fail to bring satisfaction do so, not through any lack of readership, but because they are often carelessly worded and do not contain enough information to get prompt action.

Inside Joke

There was a funny inside joke
 in a recent episode of Gomer
 Pyle—USMC. An "actor" named Aaron Reuben played a "character" named Richard O. Linke.
 Ruben is the series' producer and Linke, in real life is the personal manager of star Jim Nabors
 (and also Andy Griffith).

Routines Recreated

When Dick Van Dyke got together with his old partner Phil
 Erickson for Dick's special on CBS-TV, they recreated one of their old routines without a flaw, 16 years after they last performed the routine. Working together again reminded Dick of their first trip to Hollywood. "It was the mid-40s, and Phil and I were to get our first big chance in the big time. We were booked into Slapsie Maxie's. Movie stars and other celebrities—all those important people who usually attend opening nights, were there and on a rainy night at that! Well, we were so bad we were fired. And not just after the first night, but after the first show! And to add to this injury, when Phil and I went out to the parking lot we found that my jalopy had been moved out of the Cadillac-studded parking lot to a vacant lot across the street. We had to slosh through water and mud to get it."

Director Could Be Best Friend Lassie Ever Had

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lassie's best friend may well be William Beaudine, who has directed the talented pooch through 75 chapters of the long-run series and appears ready to direct 75 more.

Big Bill knows just how to wring the right emotion from Lassie and — just as importantly — how to bring the films in on budget or under.

"I've never gone over a shooting schedule in my whole career," the director says proudly.

And what a career it has been! At 75 Bill Beaudine claims to have been a director longer than anyone else in Hollywood.

"I directed my first picture starting on Oct. 12, 1915," he recalled. "It was a one-reel comedy called — get this — 'Minnie the Lion.'"

"I don't know of anyone who started before I did. Raoul Walsh? He was still an actor for D. W. Griffith. Jack Ford was an assistant for his brother Francis. George Marshall was an actor."

For over a half-century, Beaudine has pursued his profession with only rare intervals between pictures. He is proudest of two Marv Pickford movies, "Sparrow" and "Little Annie Rooney." He has no illusions about most of the others.

"Long ago I quit thinking that every picture I did was going to be an Academy Award contender," he said. "I'm a commercial director; I know how to save money and get something on the screen. I let those arty guys shoot the scenes through chandeliers or from behind a wire glass. That's not for me."

"I'd like to see a George Stevens or a William Wyler shoot a Lassie in three days, the way I do. Heck, they'd be three days trying to make up their minds about the first shot."

Beaudine is a big, cheery man with a pointed mustache. He figures he has turned out 200-250 television shows — "Naked City," "Rin Tin Tin," "Racket Squad," "Walt Disney Presents," etc. He receives from $1,200 to $1,500 for a half-hour show and nets an equal amount in residual payments for the first six reruns.

Gets Role

How to get a role in Dragnet 1967: Sidney Miller, who is directing a lot now, stopped by Jack Webb's office to say hello. He made a casual remark that he would be available if Webb ever wanted him to play a drunken character he had played 10 years ago. Webb decided the script they were working on could use the scene, and Miller went right to work.

LEONARD BERNSTEIN

A New Role For Bernstein

NEW YORK — Leonard Bernstein has a new role in life: the devil's advocate for rock 'n' roll.

"We must listen to it and to its makers," he says. "We must take it seriously as both a symptom and a generator of this very real revolution."

There are few, if any, in the Philharmonic circle in which Bernstein moves who would even recognize the existence of "rock" or "pop" music. A "prostitution" or an "abortion" probably is the word that would be used by those who even deign to accept its reality.

But to Bernstein, "pop" music is very much a reality. So much so, that to deny its existence is to deny the future.

"What does the future hold?" Bernstein will ask on the April 25 CBS-TV special Inside Pop—The Rock Revolution.

And he answers his question by telling us: "Turn on your radio to any station playing the 'popular' music of the day. Therein lies the answer."

"Granted, much of what you will hear will be offensive to your ear, but persevere; keep listening to the lyrics of the songs. They are telling you something. They are voicing the thinking of millions of our young people. They are expressing their views on many subjects: civil rights, peace, alienation, mysticism, drugs and first and foremost, love."

"The message . . . is delivered by implication. This is one of our teen-agers' strongest weapons: it amounts almost to a private language."

"But this use of implication produces another effect as well: something bordering on poetry. And protected by this armor of poetry, our young lyricists can say just about anything they care to."

"What is this strange and compelling scene called Pop Music? I say strange because it's unlike any scene I can think of in the history of all music: it is completely of, by, and for the kids. They write the songs, they sing them, they own them, they record them; they also buy the records, create the market, set the fashions in the music, in dress, in dance, in hairstyle, lingo, social attitudes.

"And I say compelling because it shows no signs of abatement: the fads change, the groups change; but the songs keep coming, increasingly off, defiant, and free."

Bernstein does not set himself up as a defender of "pop" music. This seems quite evident as the program follows the hectic and often musicless tours of The Beatles, Herman's Hermits, Bob Dylan and The Association.

"I said I like some of this music," Bernstein says. "There's a good deal I don't like and wouldn't dream of defending. I don't like volume for its own sake, or the way the words are often drowned out by drums and amplifiers. The music can be coarse, faddish and a victim of its own sameness."

But why then the defense? Why the devil's advocate? What does it all mean?

"I think it is all part of an historic revolution, one that has been going on for fifty years."

"Only now these young people have gotten control of a mass medium—the phonograph record. And the music on the records, with its noise and its cool message, may make us uneasy; but we must take it seriously."

"Perhaps by learning about them, we can learn something about our own future."

Spends Fortune On Good Gags

NEW YORK — Phyllis Diller lays claim to being the number one sucker for a good gag in all of show business.

"I've spent a fortune on them," she said laughing "and I'm still buying them even though I've got more than I could use in the next hundred years."

Sitting in her suite in New York's ultra-rich Waldorf Towers, the kooky clown looked like anything but her television image. Having just popped out of her morning shower, she was wholesomely scrubbed, smelling subtly of scented soap and draped in a dressing gown that spoke quietly of Fifth Avenue elegance.

Calling to a secretary to bring out some of the gag files, she proudly noted that her penchant for joke-buying had resulted in developing some good gag writers.

"There's a teacher from Pittsburgh and a housewife from Boston, both living in Hollywood today writing comedies. And they both got their start when I bought some material they sent me and passed it on to producers."

With that the short and slender secretary staggered into the room with two folios literally crammed with type-written pages, a thousand or more.

As Phyllis thumbed through them to give us some examples, one couldn't help noting the legend on the top of each page. There was a name and address and dollar figure, never less than $20: More than $2,000 worth of material sat there begging to be used.

"Why do I collect so much stuff? Well for Pete's sake you don't have to be a psychologist to figure that out. Insecurity or at least that's how it started."

"In the beginning I had to be sure of having lots of good material. I guess that's because I'm a writer myself. I started buying everything in sight and getting a reputation as being the broken-down gag writers' favorite patsy. Then the habit stuck and now even though I know I can't possibly use all I've got, I keep buying."

Phyllis lost all her insecurity problems many years ago, except for one small thing.

"I'm not physical," she said. "A lot of producers and directors think I am because on stage I'm kind of gawky."

"They feel Phyllis is a nut who will do anything for a laugh like jumping off a moving car. Nuts to you buddy."

"On the set of 'Eight on the Lam,' one guy wanted me to squeeze under a car for a gag scene that took about four seconds."

"I took one look at this old jalopy and figured this wasn't for me. But they insisted, even showing me how safely it was jacked up."

"Then while we were arguing, now get this, the jack slipped. I must have turned 14 colors. If I had gotten under there, it would have been goodbye Phyllis."

"And those jerks on the set who wanted me to do it in the first place, never batted an eyelash. They were probably thinking about the publicity they would have gotten for the picture if I'd gotten squashed. Hah."

Some Sons May Feel Handicapped By Famous Father

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Some sons feel it is a handicap to have a famous father.

Not actor Sydney Chaplin, son of Charles Chaplin.

"I think anyone who feels his life has been scarred because of the fame of his father is a bore," he said.

Produced by Father

Sydney recently completed a role in "The Countess From Hong Kong," which was produced and directed by Charles Chaplin. It was his second appearance in a production by his father. In 1952 he played a young composer in "Limelight."

The younger Chaplin is proud of his father's historic stature in the film world.

"My father invented the big salaries in this business," he remarked. "He was the first man to ask and get a million dollars a year. He was always a good businessman."

Life with father in Hollywood wasn't too congenial for Sydney as a lad, however, because of his own harum scarum ways.

"Because he had to quit school after the first grade to support his mother, my father always had a great respect for education," he said.

"But I was pretty wild. I had been thrown out of three schools by the time I was 16.

Disappointed Dad

"Dad was terribly disappointed in me at that time. He tried to be strict. He told me 'You have to be something in life. You must do something to earn a living.'

"But how can you tell a kid that he needs to go to work when he lives in a house with 12 servants?"

"You know how some kids earn money by setting up a lemonade stand in their front yard? Well, I tried that gimmick, too, but instead of lemonade I sold scotch. Why not? It was there, and easier to do. However, I was getting only $1 a week as an allowance."

A tour of duty during the war, Sydney said, brought an end to his playboy ways and a realization that it was time for him to seek a career of his own.

He helped organize a theater in Hollywood and discovered that father wasn't the only actor in the family. Since then Sydney has appeared in half a dozen films and a notable series of Broadway musicals, including "The Boys Are Raging" with Judy Holliday and "Funny Girl" with Barbra Streisand.

Sydney maintains homes here and in Paris, where until re-

TV News 'Wide Open Door' Never Came Off

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The question about which twin had the Tony — Tony Randall that is — was purely coincidental Thursday night in a tired little stab at British comedy called "The Wide Open Door" on ABC.

The program obviously was designed to match the mood of the famous old film comedy, "The Lavender Hill Mob" and was even written by the same man, T.E.B. Clarke. But it just never came off.

In the first place, there were just too many ingredients, all of them confusing. The result was an enormous amount of scurrying around by a large cast trying to touch all bases, but there was a marked shortage of humor.

Worst part was the confusion. First there was Honor Blackman playing twins, one dumb and one bright but both members of a mob attempting a bank robbery. Then there was Tony Randall playing a mustached Scotland Yard sleuth and also his double, a slick crook who assumed the detective's identity and a false mustache to pull off his evil deed.

Most of the time the viewer did not know which was the sleuth and which the crook and what was worse, didn't really care. Anyway the bad guys were caught in the end and it must be said the whole thing was accomplished without shooting, fistfuffs — or laugh track.

The 90-minute program was one in the "Stage 67" series.

NBC and Johnny Carson, after long negotiations, patched up their differences and the performer will return to his "Tonight Show" Monday after a three week absence.
